

Women in Architecture Member Profile

2023 marks the 20th anniversary of Zaha Hadid's first US commission and the first museum in the United States designed by a woman – the Contemporary Arts Center. As part of the celebrations, AIA Cincinnati wants to highlight the women in our chapter throughout the year. We'll be sharing these profiles in our newsletter and social media.

Please download this doc (click “File” in upper left of this page, then “Download”), complete, and submit this form as a Word or Google Doc (you can also copy/paste the questions into an email or a new doc), along with a photo (landscape orientation preferred) in a separate file (not embedded in this word doc) to info@aiacincinnati.org. The image can be a formal headshot, a casual selfie, or an informal photo. The larger the image size, the better, as it will appear less pixelated.

If you'd like to participate but would rather talk through the questions than write your responses, please contact Julie to set up a time – julie@aiacincinnati.org

Social media handles for you and/or your firm (these won't be shared in the profile, but we'll use them to tag you and/or your firm on social media):

What got you interested in architecture?

How did you get started in the field?

Where are you in your career?

What's the biggest highlight of your career so far?

What's been the biggest challenge in your career so far?

Who do you admire or what are you excited about/inspired by right now?

What do you wish you'd known starting out in the field? And/or what advice would you give to a young woman considering pursuing a career in architecture?

When you're not at work, what do you enjoy?
