Anika: aka da coolest cool of the cool

Good morning/ good afternoon everyone, I'm christopher luxon and` this is our group (the cool one aka National) and we strongly believe that the government should stop supplying School Lunches (Obviously), and I know what you're all thinking (Obviously), "what about the people who need the school lunches?" We need that money for the other important things for the poor little children, like the doctors and the dental vans that come to our school. Also they could use that money to fund lots of children's vaccinations (Obviously) . We think the best idea is to stop supplying the school lunches. Next up, Christopher Luxon will be talking about the children's safety and health and third speaker Christopher Luxon, will be talking about the waste, the money and what it could be used for instead (Obviously).

Rebuttal, Main Point

Eliza:

As a student at one of the many schools that supply free school lunches, I know about the safeness of the food we are given. Children don't like the school lunches and take them for the soggy, surgery treats inside. How many of you actually like the school lunches? Rats and mice have been spotted scampering into our classrooms for the school lunch scraps. I have spotted at least five mice since the school lunches started. It is unhygienic for students to have mice looking through the scraps while they eat. Students have found unknown hair and mold in their school lunches as well very undercooked meat, gross damp bread, and burnt burger buns, making it hazardous for the students eating them. People have had food poisoning from the lunches, keeping them off school for days. Think about it , how many times have you been disgusted by the meals we are provided? How many times have you eaten undercooked meat or have gaged from the drenched bread? Th? cooks don't take our health into account when making our "safe" lunches.

Rebuttal, Main Point

ZITA

Did you know that the government is spending $300 million dollars on school lunches per year. The government is currently in massive debt because of this program. They could use that money to fund a hundred teachers annually. Our children could go on to university someday and study to become a lawyer or a politician with those extra teachers. That could also be the money used to save children's lives. Every lunch that the government buys costs $5.78 cents for the year 0-3 and the 4-8 learners lunches cost $6.77 cents each. Studies show that 10,000 school lunches are wasted each passing day. The government feels as though they are throwing money into the bin for no reason . One of the most important things is to assure parents and guardians that their children have a good education. We also need to assure everyone who has children that they love and care for that our grandchildren will be brought up with teachers who will make them be as smart and as intelligent as they can be.

Rebuttal: “the children can take the school lunches home to help their families”
Giving the school heaps of school lunches and hoping that they will reach the right houses is like spinning around blindfolded and throwing a dart at the dartboard and hoping to get a bullseye. When instead if we stop the school lunches we can have more money to help the people in need (even though national sucks and they would never do anything like that)

Anika:

We need to stop school lunches for many different reasons (obviously). Sure, they supply food for the people who can't afford lunch, but they should just talk to the teachers about their financial situation, not make the government waste money that could be used for better things for children such as better equipment for schools ( obviously ). Families that get the school lunches taken home could always go to a food bank or go to a charity to help support them with food and money. The hygiene used for the school lunches is horrific and should have been abolished years ago (obviously) . We do not see how it is legal to feed children this food when it's not safe at all . Lunches are wasted and plastic is littered into our community from the lunches. Where did they even get their information from, Tik Tok? Sure, there are some good reasons like the points the other team has said, but there are so many more good reasons to get rid of them ( obviously). We got that information from sensible people websites like Radio NZ and Stuff which is why you should choose us to win. Thank you for listening and goodbye` . (obviously)
