

- All words that you need to know are underlined.

Acerra:

1.28

hesternō fētēre merō quī crēdit Acerram, fallitur: in lūcem semper Acerra bibit.

hesternus, hesterna, hesternum: yesterday's fēteō, fētēre: to stink, reek, smell bad merus, merī, m.: wine (specifically pure, unmixed wine)

Sextus:

2.87

dīcis amōre tuī bellās ardēre puellās, quī faciem sub aquā, Sexte, natantis habēs.

faciēs, facieī, f.: face, appearance

Maro:

11.67

nil mihi dās vīvus; dīcis post fāta daturum.

sī nōn es stultus, scīs, Maro, quid cupiam.

nil <= nihil

fātum, fātī, n.: fate, death (one's ultimate fate)

daturum = daturum esse

Cotta:

1.23

invītās nullum nisi cum quō, Cotta, lavāris et dant cōnvīvam balnea sōla tibi.

mīrābar quārē numquam mē, Cotta, vocāssēs:

iam scio mē nūdum displicuisse tibi.

invītō, invītāre, invītāvī, invītātum: to invite, invite over, invite to dinner lavō, lavāre, lāvī, lautum: to wash cōnvīva, cōnvīvae, m./f.: dinner-guest, guest, companion balneum, balneī, n.: bathhouse, bath mīror, mīrārī, mīrātus sum: to wonder vocāssēs = contracted pluperfect subjunctive (translate like a normal pluperfect) nūdus, nūda, nūdum: naked, nude, bare displiceō, displicēre, displicuī: to be displeasing, be unpleasant