LMS School Attire Guidelines

Lincoln Middle School supports an attire policy that allows students to express their individuality, culture, and whole self without creating a hostile environment for their peers. In this spirit, a Lincoln Middle School scholar who follows our Attire Policy:

- Wears clothing without any form of profanity, violence, drugs, alcohol, vandalism, weapons, tobacco, sexual acts, affiliation to an exclusionary group, or offense to any gender, race, culture, or other protected class.
- Keeps their faces visible so we can verify they belong on our campus. Does not use hats, hoods, or any other items to conceal their face. Please note that hats/hoods will be confiscated or removed if used in a distracting way. Cultural head and/or face coverings are always permitted.
- Wears clothing that ensures coverage of the entire buttocks and upper thighs at all times and does not show underwear. Pants/bottoms must be buttoned/snapped at all times.
- Wears tops that do not expose excess belly, chest, or back. Tops are not strapless or backless. Shirts cut low on the sides or in the back should be worn with a tank top or camisole underneath.
- Wears shoes with closed toes and heels (no slides/slippers).

Please note that none of these school attire guidelines in any way implies that anyone would ever be less than fully responsible for their own behavior, regardless of the attire of another. Students who violate any part of these school attire guidelines must change into their own compliant clothing or into school-provided alternative clothing. See the school handbook for consequences. The administration reserves the right to make the final determination as to the appropriateness of attire.
