EXCELLENT UNDERSTANDING OF CLIENT NEEDS AND ABILITY TO DELIVER AGAINST THEM

After 5 years of no activity and a radical career change, I was looking to update my LinkedIn profile, from a blue-chip marketer to a self-employed psychotherapist, clinic owner and researcher.

I spoke to a few LinkedIn consultants, but they seemed more focused on their processes than my situation and needs. Ludmila came highly recommended by another professional, and 100% lived up to that recommendation.

She managed to dive deep into the current situation and help me extract the golden nuggets from my past experience that played well in the context of the career change. She offered a few different directions for my profile to be taken to, and as a result, we managed to balance the three key aspects of my current occupation.

She also acted as an editor for the profile texts, adding clarity and offering perspective.

Ludmila is analytical, understanding and committed to high results. Can't recommend her enough.
