

We are interested in people from ALL over the world and involved with women's baseball or women in baseball in ANY capacity. Whether you are a fan, player, activist, umpire, or all or none of the above, we want to hear from you! And, it's pretty simple to get involved. Check the info in the description to get directions and we hope to see you in our new series!

Here's how:

- Start by finding a way to record yourself. It's as simple as switching your phone camera around and hitting record. Need some help? Reach out to iwbc.archive@gmail.com and our archivist can facilitate recordings.
- Are you uncomfortable putting yourself on camera? You can also just record your voice and send it to us. We do ask that if you decide to just use your voice that you send us a picture that can be used with it, but we can accommodate no photo as well.
- Then, answer any or all of these questions, if you are comfortable doing so:
 - What is your Name?
 - What Pronouns do you use?
 - What do you do? (You can give us your job or how you are involved in women's baseball)
 - Where are you from?
 - Why the IWBC? (Or why women's baseball?)
 - What's your Favorite Baseball Memory?
 - What's your interest outside of women's baseball?
 - What does the future of women's baseball look like to you?
- Be sure to pause between answering questions for a few seconds, as it will make editing your entry a little easier on our team!
- Then, send your entry to iwbc.archive@gmail.com.

It's that simple! We will begin posting entries for the series beginning Sunday, July 25 to help the International Women's Baseball Center kick off Women in Baseball Week, so keep an eye out!

If you need any help, the IWBC Archivist and Digital Content Producer is here to answer any of your questions, just email them at iwbc.archive@gmail.com. Then, if you would be so kind, share this with others you know involved in the game, so we can make sure the whole community has a chance to participate.

If you are under the age of 18, please be sure to get permission from a guardian to participate.

By submitting an entry, you are agreeing to the IWBC and Women in Baseball Week's organizations' use of your entry on our YouTube channel, social media, and other uses deemed appropriate by the organization.
