METHODS

Describe the method in detail. If the method refers to a standard procedure, write the standard (reference library). And describe and explain the types of related research, the subject, and objects of the study, the time and location of the study, how to take samples, collect data, and analyze data.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

Findings obtained from research results must be written down and published clearly. No data was agreed on over and over, the results were supported by well-prepared and illustrated data.

Existing tables or figures are presented with explanations. The table consists of 3 horizontal lines. The image shown can be seen clearly. Writing numbers and the title of the table are placed above the table, while the number and title of the image are placed below the picture. Complete the existing tables and figures with the source below each table/figure.

Example of table format:

Table 1. Test Results of the Fourth Week of Effects
