

Stage 2: The Drama Begins: Angel's Gate, San Pedro

The military left and we came in. Explore some bunkers and buildings and a few cultural monuments. Definitely more obstacles than El Dorado and a lot more climb. But none of that tricky multilevel stuff yet. But this one should keep you on your toes.

Checkpoints: 17

Distance as the Crow Flies: 2.4 km

Distance on a Good Route: 3.5 km

Climb: 85m

Map: New ISSprOM, 1:4000 Scale for the event, 2.5 Contours

Terrain: One third rugged ocean bluffs, one third landscaped parkland, one third buildings and roads and trails. Lots of fences.

Of Concern: Some of the military areas have fenced off sections you should not go in. Marked as uncrossable fencing. The rough open vegetation can sometimes be easy to cross and some areas are more grassy. Can be quite windy, hang on to your map. Near the start there can be many dogs, some off leash, even though they're supposed to be leashed.

Map Notes: Picnic areas are marked as paved circles with the fodder-rack symbol inside, looks like an up-arrow.

Getting There:

Parking is at Joan Milke Flores Park, 3601 S Gaffey St, San Pedro CA 90731

Our picnic reservation begins at 2:00pm and we plan to start running quarterfinal heats at 3:00pm. You will be seeded into a heat based on your time trial result. Heats will start every 3 to 5 minutes depending on how many people we end up with.

Heat 1 Results

- 1 Wyatt Riley 21:54
- 2 Polina Biryukova 32:37
- 3 Wayne Cottrell 33:38
- 4 Sarah Weeks 1:14:44

Heat 2 Results

- 1 Mikhail Biryukov 21:06
- 2 Tac Sugiyama 26:03
- 3 Francois Leonard 36:04
- 4 Ann Bergstrom 53:30

Heat 3 Results

- 1 Olga Urbanovskaia 24:55
- 2 Oriana Riley 26:09
- 3 Lisa Carr 46:53
- 4 John Phillips 47:21

Heat 4 Results

- 1 Sergey Biryukov 24:33
- 2 Marie-Josée Parayre 27:32
- 3 Mary Jones 42:25
- 4 Karen Murphy 51:36

Non tournament heat Results

- 1 Mike Chin 34:08
- 2 Reies Montes 47:25
- 3 Xiomara Montes 47:27
- 4 Recinda Sherman 1:00:16