I am an only child, we are a higher class family, we live in Hollywood. I love my mother and we get along very well. My father and I havent spoken since the divorce. I do not send him letters since I know he wouldn't reply. I hate him for leaving my mother and I. My mother and I go on many occasional trips including on private planes to Miami and private yachts.

We have all of the same classes.

He has many emotions he keeps inside he can't cry to anyone but me. He sneaks out at night to see me and when we are in between classes. He'll try to make me jealous but would never actually cheat. Shows me off to everyone, gets jealous easily, will hurt everyone who tries to hurt me and will stand up for me. Lies on my lap while I stroke his hair and strokes mine while I sleep. Can be a bit too overprotective at times. He flirts by making me jealous, smirking and winking at me. He opens up to me. He compliments me. His hair feels smooth and silky 24/7. Leaves me cute notes all the time. He always comforts me when I'm sad. He calls me gorgeous and beautiful. He hugs me from behind. He loves it when I sit on his lap. I'm the only person he can open up to, trust and he's deeply in love with me. He takes care of me when needed. We smoke together. We always sneak out together to explore the woods. He can't take it when we're apart. We see each other a lot but we also hang out with our own friends. He's not a weird type of clingy, just normal. He tries to hold my hand, hug me, kiss me as often as he can. He smirks at me when we cross each other in the hallways. We always meet at the astronomy tower to see the sunrise/sunset or stars together. If I'm talking to another boy he'll come up behind me and spin me around and kiss me. He'll develop a crush on me the first time he sees me. He acts tough around other people except for me. If I'm upset he'll skip class to come check on me. His father despises me because I made Draco rebel against him. If his father ever tries to touch me or yell at me Draco stands in front of me and protects me. Draco's mother likes me and we bond over him. His hands are always cold. His lips are soft. His sneezes are quiet. When we brew Amortentia he smells my signature scent. Draco smells roses, coconut and warm vanilla when he thinks of me. I am a tease to him since he tries to make fun of me but I show no reaction. He compliments me in private and blushes when I do the same to him. He asks me out to the Yule Ball and I accept. He never dies.

Godric Gryffindor really likes me and comes to say hi once in a while. Everyone thinks that Pansy Parkinson is annoying. Draco and I love to play the piano together, dance through the hallways at midnight, kiss under the stars, me reading on his lap and him humming into my skin. Once I arrive I know my way around the castle. Cho Chang is very sweet to everyone except if they're mean to people she cares about. I cannot get ill.
