BIOGRAPHY

Zevran was born to a Dalish woman who fell in love with an elven woodcutter, abandoning her clan and moved with the woodcutter to Antiva City. After the woodcutter died from disease, Zevran's mother was forced into a life of prostitution in Rialto to pay off the woodcutter's debts, and died soon after giving birth to Zevran. Zevran was raised communally by the prostitutes in the brothel until the age of seven where he caught the attention of the Antivan Crow's Guildmaster Talav of House Arainai who paid the remainder of the debt his mother had been forced to repay. As such, he was considered compradi (purchased). Rinna, Talisen, and Zevran worked famously together as a unit within House Arainai, with Rinna as the planner, Talisen as the muscle, and Zevran as the seducer and poisoner. This eventually led to the trio becoming romantically involved. Eventually, Zevran and Taliesen were tasked with killing Rinna, whom the Rosso Noche were trying to put forward as an heir to King Natale. Following her murder, Zevran became depressed. His later bid for a contract to kill the two remaining Grey Wardens in Ferelden was interpreted by some in the Crows as an attempt to attain the rank of master, but was in actuality a suicide attempt.
