

From the interrogation of George Long by James R. Wood, as entered into evidence during Long's trial.

Long: Go head? (Pause)

Wood: Yes—go ahead?

Long: And we was in the room then a while and came out.

Wood: Were you intimate with her there?

Long: Yes.

Wood: But before becoming intimate did she get any money from you?

Long: No sir.

Wood: Did she remove her clothes?

Long: Her skirt.

Wood: Just her skirt?

Long: Just her skirt.

Wood: And her hat?

Long: Yes, and her hat and gloves.

Wood: And gloves; now on that occasion when you were intimate with her, is that the occasion you told me about when she used some sort of a preventative?

Long:                She used a blue tablet—I have a bottle in my room over there now—I can't tell the name of the tablet, out there is a blue wash that comes in an oblong bottle—or a three cornered bottle.

Wood: Is that something you gave her?

Long:                Yes, I had them setting there in the dresser, and I had them in my pocket that night.
