

Organizations for the Gifted

California Association for the Gifted

California Association for the Gifted (CAG) is an organization of educators and parents dedicated to meeting the unique needs of gifted and talented students. CAG was started in 1966 by a group of educators and parents who wanted to make a difference in the lives of gifted students. CAG is one of the nation's largest state advocacy groups of its kind, providing its members with informational training about the education of gifted and talented students.

National Association for Gifted Children

The national organization for parents teachers and administrators interested in spreading knowledge and awareness about gifted students and gifted education. Includes gifted education standards.

Supporting Emotional Needs of the Gifted (SENG)

Includes many expert-written articles on social and emotional topics and has excellent community forums.

Center for Talent Development

A Northwestern University program that offers several online learning opportunities for gifted students of all ages

Johns Hopkins Center for Talented Youth

The Johns Hopkins University Center for Talented Youth identifies and develops the talents of the most advanced K-12 learners worldwide. As part of Johns Hopkins, CTY contributes to the university's mission by preparing and nurturing the bright young people who will go on to make significant contributions to our world.

World Council for Gifted and Talented Children