APRICIO VERSUS FALKOV

Round One: Aleja and Falkov Move forward as the bell signals the beginning of the fight. There is a moment of them circling each other waiting to see who will make the first move. Falkov launches a straight right, Aleja ducks under and fires one off of her own. Falkov and Aleja engage in an exchange of punches. Both fighters come out of that pretty evenly. Aleja moves forward as Falkov moves aside launches a strong hook that is blocked. Falkov launches some tentative punches. Aleja defends then launches a couple of jabs that are answered by Falkov with a stiff cross. Falkov fakes a move and moves laterally. Falkov swings for the fences as Aleja backpedals and creates space. Aleja Aparicio sees an opportunity to counter as Falkov leads with a punch, Aleja Aparicio avoids it and lands flush with a counter uppercut.

JMILLY: Strong uppercut but neither have been decisive in this one so far! They both have been very defensive.

Paris Falkov is measuring Aleja with her jab with good accuracy. There is swelling beginning to form on Alena's right cheek. As the fight continues it seems that Paris Falkov is taking the best of the fight so far. Aleja follows Falkov but Falkov fakes a move. Falkov launches a hook to the body but Aleja Aparicio moves aside looking for a counter. Falkov shows excellent timing, blasting Aleja Aparicio with a right hand hook. Aleja Aparicio is caught off balance and slips against the ropes. Falkov launches a hook to Aleja's body but Aleja blocks that punch. Aleja tries to get off of the ropes but Falkov pushes her back against the corner. Aleja clinches with Falkov only to be pushed into the corner for her troubles. Aleja throws a flurry of punches and Paris Falkov just can't get away.

JMILLY: Falkov is in trouble as Aleja fights her way out of the corner.

Falkov launches some bone breaking punches to Aleja's ribs forcing her back into the corner. The pain in Aleja Aparicio's eyes is clear to see. Aleja doesn't dwell on it as she fights backs. Aleja is throwing a flurry of punches trying to get herself out of the corner, Falkov can't block Aleja's hands are too fast. Falkov picks her moment and sees an opening as she once again launches some bone breaking punches to Aleja's ribs. Aleja is showing her toughness as she once again goes with the flurry of punches. Falkov launches a big hook but Aleja ducks under and circles out of the corner. Aleja studies her opponent looking for a hole in her defense. The ref stops the action. The round is over.

JMILLY: I can't give the advantage to either fighter in that round. Both fighters had their moments in that first round and it's going to be a tough one to judge.

As the pair return to their corners there is disappointment on both their coaches faces.

FALKOV'S COACH: We told you not to engage with her! Take your time and counter punch, you're giving her too much time in the corner to go to work! Next round we need a big round!

Paris nods in agreement with her coach. Aleja isn't getting an easy time either as her team work on reducing the swelling on her right cheek.

ALEJA'S COACH: You need to stop letting her work your body so much! This is what she does! Stop letting her fight her fight! Make her fight your way!

After the minute interval concludes the teams exit the ring and Attica Lawson does her walk around the ring before exiting. The referee calls for round two to begin.

Round Two: The pair come out of their corners and it's Falkov to show first as she goes with a looping right hand while Aleja Aparicio jumps back. Falkov only hits air and the subsequent exchange is fruitless. Aleja Aparicio circles around Falkov waiting for her moment. A crisp uppercut by Aleja followed by a hard jab has Paris Falkov stumbling back. Aleja steps in with a nice punch and is dragged into a boxing match by Falkov but it's Aleja that outboxes Falkov in this exchange. Aleja steps forward but Falkov feints then hits Crisp uppercut followed by a hard jab but Aleja deflects the last blows. Paris Falkov tries a nice one-two combination that connects. Aleja Aparicio throws a looping left hand That lands on Falkov's chin. Falkov back off and circles around Aleja. Paris Falkov tries a hook to the body and hits Aleja ribs hard.

JMILLY: These two have been evenly matched throughout this fight so far! Nobody has got the momentum going on their side, they just keep firing off shots like it's nothing!

Aleja Aparicio fakes a punch and shows some footwork moving aside. Aleja is swinging for the fences she lands a hit that almost breaks Falkov's jaw. Paris Falkov launches a couples of jabs and then a big hook but Aleja blocks and tries to circle around her opponent looking for angles. Aleja launches a hook to the body but Paris Falkov moves aside looking for a counter. Aleja Aparicio paws at The Nightmare. Falkov swings ineffectively. Falkov shows excellent timing and blasts Aleja Aparicio with a right hand hook. Aleja Aparicio is caught off balance and stumbles to the corner.

JMILLY: We know how this went in the first round can Aleja find her rhythm in the corner once again or is Falkov going to be too strong for her.

Falkov launches a furious hook to Aleja's Head but Aleja blocks. Falkov clumsily fails with another hook to the bod and it's time for Aleja Aparicio to fight back. Aleja Aparicio uses her jab to her Falkov away from her. She moves fast with the jab and manages to create enough distance to escape the corner. Aleja Aparicio is ready to engage but The referee separates the fighters as the buzzer sounds.

JMILLY: That round was a toss up! These two have traded it back and forth in these first two round!

Falkov goes back to her corner frustrated about her lack of momentum in this round.

FALKOV'S COACH: Once you have her against the ropes or in the corner you have to be more clinical! It's your main chance to get her out of there!

Aleja herself is a little disappointed by that previous round.

ALEJA'S COACH: Good job getting out of the corner but don't let her put you there again! She won't be missing those shots again! Keep hammering her body and she'll eventually drop!

Attica Lawson makes her walk for round three as the minute interval comes to an end. The teams and Attica Lawson exits the ring as the referee calls for the start of the next round.

Round Three: The vibe is different for this round as both women come out looking for each other. Paris Falkov and Aleja engage in a wild exchange of punches with both fighters connecting and it could be ending soon if either lands a lucky punch. Aleja moves backwards having had enough of the brawling and Paris Falkov is asking her if she came to fighting or running. Falkov decides to launch some tentative punches whilst Aleja launches a couple of jabs that are answered by Falkov with a stiff cross in Solid exchange from the pair. Aleja moves backwards and circles around Paris Falkov. Aleja studies her opponent looking for a hole in her defense. You can hear the excitement from the crowd as Paris Falkov launches a couple of jabs and then a big hook but Aleja blocks and tries to circle around her opponent looking for angles.

JMILLY: Aleja is looking for the perfect angles to make her move but Falkov just keeps coming at her looking to fight!

Paris Falkov fakes a punch and shows some footwork moving aside. Falkov feints and moves forward to hit with a hook it's a crushing shot that lands. It's followed up by some nice shots from Paris Falkov that stun Aleja. Paris Falkov throws a looping left hand that lands on Aleja's Chin. Several good body shots are evaded by Falkov as Aleja Aparicio gets sloppy and Paris Falkov tries to take advantage, Falkov wants to close the range and back Aleja into the corner. Falkov uses her jab to successfully force Aleja into the corner before she launches some bone breaking punches to Aleja's ribs. Paris Falkov postures up and launches another series of punches. Most of them are connecting with Aleja hard. Aleja must be wondering how to escape from this.

JMILLY: Falkov isn't missing these shots this time around, I feel like the momentum has shifted to her big time!

Aleja Aparicio postures up in the corner and launches a series of punches trying to get herself room to move but Falkov pushes her back into the corner and blocks most of Aleja Aparicio's offensive. Falkov uses this to come at Aleja with a flurry of punches, the majority of them are connecting with Aleja. Falkov goes to work on the ribs of Aleja with a rapid flurry of bone breaking punches. The buzzer sounds, marking the end of the round. The ref tells the fighters to go to their corner.

JMILLY: This round has got to go to Paris Falkov, but it's close. I just think Falkov done more to win this round than Aleja did! It was a big round and Aleja now knows she has her work cut out for her whilst Falkov knows she can hurt Aleja!

Falkov is congratulated in her corner for a well fought round and following the game plan.

FALKOV'S COACH: Excellent round! You've got her where you want here, keep this up in the next round because she's going to need to respond in this next one… don't let her get into this next round!

In the opposite corner Aleja is visibly disappointed by the last round.

ALEJA'S COACH: It's one bad round but you can't make a habit of this! You've got to be on her in this next round, make her fight your fight! If you lose this next round then the mountain becomes almost impossible to climb… get out there and secure the next round!

Attica Lawson makes her way around the ring to signal round four is about to begin. Their teams exit the ring as does Attica Lawson before the referee calls for the start of this fourth round.

Round Four: Aleja knows she has to take this round. She comes out looking for Falkov right off the bat. Falkov avoids a dangerous strike from Aleja and fends her off with feel-out punches. Crisp uppercut by Aleja followed by a hard jab has Paris Falkov stumbles back. Paris Falkov launches a couple of jabs and then a big hook but Aleja blocks and tries to circle around her opponent looking for angles. Aleja Aparicio tries a hook to the body and hits Falkov's ribs hard. Paris Falkov has found an opening in the defense of Aleja, launching a big uppercut that has Aleja wobbling. Paris Falkov fakes a punch and launches Aleja against the ropes. This is exactly where Falkov wants the fight to be. Aleja doesn't give her the chance to go to work as she clinches. Aleja takes a break to breathe while holding Paris Falkov. The referee sees a lack of activity in the clinch and separates the fighters.

JMILLY: Aleja knew she was going to be in big trouble there, so she was smart to clinch. Let herself catch a breath, slow the pace down a little and irritate Falkov!

Paris Falkov tries to take the action to the corner once again. Falkov bullies Aleja with jabs and hooks trying to force her into the corner. Aleja is using her speed and movement to avoid it but it's not enough Falkov just wasn't allowing her time to breath as she gets close to Aleja forcing her into the corner. Aleja pushes off of Paris Falkov and starts launching a flurry of hooks and body shots. Falkov stumbles backwards but Aleja Aparicio chases her down and continues the rain of blows. Aleja launches a bone shattering hook to the rib cage of Falkov. Falkov is struggling to breath as Aleja continues to back her up with a vicious assault to the body. Falkov manages to get away and uses her reach advantage to jab Aleja into the corner. Falkov is throwing a flurry of punches but Aleja ducks under and circles out of the corner.

JMILLY: Smart fight in this round for Aleja! She gave the punishment and worked hard to avoid Falkov's power!

A right hand from Paris Falkov misses its target. Aleja and The Nightmare circle around the center of the ring. Falkov Jabs then steps back. Aleja comes forward looking for a fight but Falkov backs her off with the jab. Paris Falkov postures up and launches another series of punches. Aleja pushes her opponent forward and blocks most of Paris Falkov's offensive. A left hook from Falkov falls short but a right hand from Aleja Aparicio has Falkov stumbling back. The referee separates the fighters as the round concludes. The fighters touch gloves as they head back to their corners.

JMILLY: Close round. It could go to either fighter but I'm going to have to say Aleja Aparicio won this one! She fought smart, she kept Falkov at bay and got her shots off right!

Aleja's corner is giving her a list of pro's and con's from that last round.

ALEJA'S COACH: You fought smart for most of that round but She is powerful especially when she goes for the body… you need to stop her leaving her mark on the body. Keep her on her toes, keep looking for the right angles!

Falkov's corner are furious at her for losing a vital round.

FALKOV'S COACH: You've gave her too much respect in that round! You let her take her shots and now she's won that round, every round has been too close to call but you've let her take this one… fight smart and hit hard!

Attica Lawson does her walk around the ring before the teams exit the ring. Once Attica Lawson exits the referee calls for the start of round five.

Round Five: The fighters come out for the fifth round and it's a sense of urgency for one of them as Paris Falkov goes with a looping right hand but Aleja Aparicio jumps back and jabs. Falkov launches some bone breaking punches to Aleja's ribs. Aleja is in severe pain after those body shots. Paris Falkov stalkes Aleja into the corner before she throws another series of punches. Aleja is in big trouble in the corner and is desperately trying to find a way out of this one. Aleja Aparicio's corner is screaming instructions at her as Falkov is in the zone throwing a flurry of punches to the body. Aleja Aparicio just can't get away. The ribs of Aleja are taking some abuse right now as Falkov keeps on targeting them with bone breaking punches. Aleja's corner are telling her she needs to get out of the corner but her breath was being taken from her body with each shot.

JMILLY: Aleja getting worked over like she snitched on Falkov! She got to start defending otherwise we gone have to dump her body out back!

Falkov continues to attack the body of Aleja with bone breaking combinations. Paris Falkov postures up and launches another series of punches but Aleja pushes her opponent backwards and blocks most of Paris Falkov's offensive. Falkov misses a step and Aleja Aparicio sees an opportunity to counter her with a Quick hook. It finds it mark and Falkov has reasons to be worried. Crisp uppercut by The Nightmare followed by a hard jab had Aleja Aparicio stumbles back. Aleja follows Paris Falkov but The Nightmare fakes a move. Right hand from Paris Falkov surprises Aleja. Falkov looks for angles as she throws a few jabs that are countered by Aleja Aparicio's punches. Falkov is on the receiving end of a great combo by Aleja.

JMILLY: Aleja got that opening! She's got to stay on this now, this shits been way too close.. this is the opportunity she's been waiting for to go ahead.

Several good body shots are evaded by Aleja. Aleja Aparicio fakes a punch and launches a stiff uppercut that lands on the chin of Falkov. Falkov desperately clinches, using this to take a break to breathe while holding Aleja Aparicio. The referee separates the fighters and tells them to continue fighting. Paris Falkov fakes a punch and launches a strong hook to the body of Aleja. Falkov backs Aleja against the ropes. Falkov goes to the body once again with some damaging combinations Aleja's ribs. Aleja is in trouble if she keeps allowing these to land. The buzzer sounds, marking the end of the round. The ref tells the fighters to go to their corner.

JMILLY: GOD DAMN! This scary ass Russian not even allowing her to get no momentum going. She out here trying to break these ribs like Aleja just stole her last chicken wing.

Aleja walks back to her corner disappointed that she didn't follow up when she swung them momentum for a moment.

ALEJA'S COACH: You've got to take the most of these opportunities! Understand?

Falkov's team aren't happy either as they felt she could have done more.

FALKOV'S COACH: Don't let her get out of this next round! The longer you keep her in there, the more chance she has of winning this!

Attica Lawson does her walk around the ring with the round six card before exiting. Both their teams exit the ring and the referee calls them to start round six.

Round Six: This one was going to come down to conditioning and Aleja seems to still be in great condition after those previous five round. The fighters size each other up in the center of the ring before there's a Crisp uppercut by Aleja followed by a hard jab that has Falkov stumbling back. Falkov throws a looping left hand but Aleja moves aside and dodges. Aleja swings and it connects with a hard impact to Falkov's face. Falkov goes with a looping right hand while Aleja jumps back and jabs. That one hits but Aleja seems unaffected, countering with a few punches of her own in a great exchange. Falkov decides to launch some tentative punches Aleja takes the best of a brief punching exchange. There's a Nice straight right from Aleja Aparicio that had Falkov staggering backwards. Aleja wants to finish this and continues launching bombs.

JMILLY: THERE'S THAT MOTHER FUCKING NEW YORK MENTALITY WE BEEN WAITIN FOR! ALEJA CHASIN' IVAN DRAGO'S HALF SISTER DOWN LIKE THIS BEAST COAST WHAT?

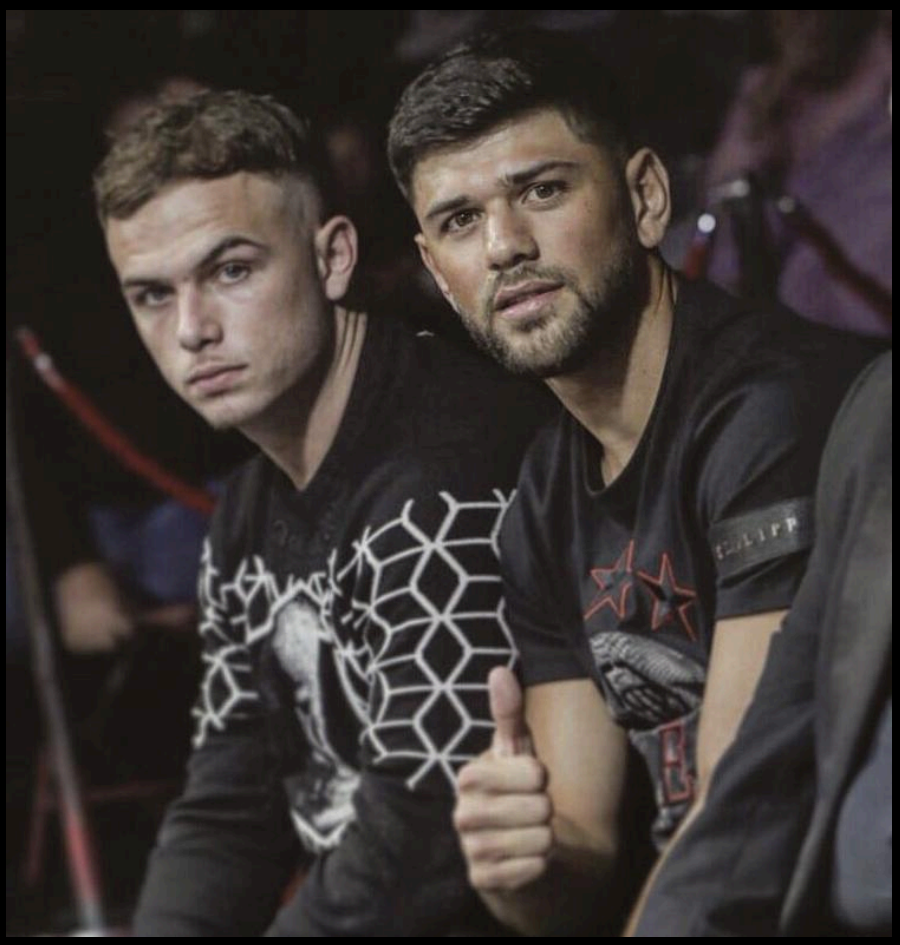

The two exchange wildly with Aleja managing to connect with a few punches. A left hook from Aleja grazes the chin of Falkov. It's followed up by a Bone shattering straight right hand from Aleja Aparicio but Falkov ducks under. Falkov moves forward and attempts to bully Aleja into the corner but Aleja isn't here for that as she was launching some wild punches trying to back her up. Falkov was just eating those punches. Aleja is throwing a flurry of punches and Falkov just can't get away. Aleja goes to work on the ribs with some bone breaking punches against the ropes. Aleja hits clean to the midsection and it's like the air was sucked out of Falkov's body. Aleja is going in for the kill as she postures up and begins to launch a ferocious series of punches. one fatal shot slipped through and Falkov crumbles against the corner. The referee separates the fighters as this one is over.

JMILLY: SHE BODIED THE RUSSIAN!!! PUTIN GOIN' DROP BOMBS AFTER ALEJA DROPPED HIS GIRL!!! OH LAWD!!!

Aleja Aparicio celebrates in her corner for the moment whilst Falkov's corner are tending to her. the referee brings them both to the middle of the ring as Ainsley Flacco enters the ring for the official decision.

AINSLEY FLACCO: The referee has brought a halt to this contest at 2 minutes and 30 seconds of the sixth round… Declaring the winner via TKO…. ALEJA APARICIO!!!

THE BRASI CLAN & LALAINA

Elite FC World Champion and Recent Elite Boxing Signing, Luca Brasi is seen on camera alongside his brother and girlfriend recording Artist Lalaina. The siblings are obviously in attendance to support their father who make his return to the ring