

sigh

FannyChmelar: Sigh!!! you were my bromance and i wish you weren't evicted week 1 bc I think we would have been great together. i miss u n u were the BEST little pawn.
<3

Fred: I honestly wish I could've played with you more, Sigh. I know the time zones were kind of messy and you couldn't be on all the time, but you've always been a good friend, and I honestly still feel bad about voting you out first! Especially against such an inactive player.

Zarfot:

Sigh the martyr! You seem like a great guy and I would have loved to have you more time on the game. I loved your drama bit with ginga on week 1, it wasn't very effective but it was still fun to watch :)

view

FannyChmelar: Nonetheless, I will definitely win for the glory of nyoom.

Fred: Hosts, I think you made a mistake, I don't remember anyone named view playing this game.

Zarfot:

Who?

blood4bloodgod

FannyChmelar: umm i didn't rly like you even tho you created the clusterfuck so thanks for that!! you were rly scary tho omg

Fred: We never really got along, did we? Even if you didn't last too long, I enjoyed battling with you and the alliance you made day one. And honestly, you changed the course of the game a lot by making it! Not in a way that was good for your alliance, but you really united the players who weren't in it. So, kudos for having a big impact!

Zarfot:

I remember on day 1 thinking you were going to be one of the biggest threats of the season. You have a unique way of acting that is refreshing and if you had hold back just a little bit you would've gotten really far.

feist

FannyChmelar: my OG f2. my i don't know her gf. feist i love love love you and you were totally ROBBED and you didn't deserve the placement you got @ all. i really hope you're proud of me this game bc the only reason I had the determination to get this far was for you and feist for sbbbb3 returnee???

Fred: You know, I really did want to work with you, Feist, and I think we could've done it. When you were HoH I really tried to help you out, but I guess it just wasn't meant to be. Oh well, even with the shade you threw on me during your eviction, I still think you're a cool and nice person, and I really hope you enjoyed the game.

Zarfot:

Feist!! I'm really sorry for not talking to you more before you left, you seemed like a genuinely nice person and a great player. I feel like our chances at the nominations were really close, it could have been either of us. One of my biggest regrets in this game was not listening to you more on the early weeks, if I had done that maybe things would have been much different. Who knows?

NoAviNoKnowledge

FannyChmelar: logan i love u. ur a smol lil guy with a heart of gold n i think it got the best of you in this game sadly. i respect you tons n it was a shame how you went.

Fred: NoAviNoKnowledge, whew, did I nominate you so many times. I'm sorry that, during the course of the game, we never really got along, because i think we do definitely have a lot of interests in common. You were always so active in the main chat, I think a big reason you went home was because you only talked to a few people in the game, and everyone else felt a little alienated. But you were still really nice, and I'm sorry you couldn't have played longer!

Zarfot:

Even though we never really talked much from what I could see you are a good person and very smart for someone your age. I am sorry that you had to leave on the week I was mostly away from the game, and we didn't get the chance to connect that much.

theturningRAY

FannyChmelar: ray !! umm tbh. we didn't really talk that much bc you came off really untrustworthy for me the minute you asked me what my gameplan was bc it came off kinda. wierd. idk. it seemed very unreal to me and i didn't really feel bad for voting you out fhhfg

Fred: Ray, the only unanimous vote in the game. The weird thing was, I don't think I even really wanted you to go that week. Verum and I were co HoHs and I kind of just let them take control, since our in game relationship needed healing. But, honestly, I was shocked to see the vote was unanimous. You were still an entertaining player, I don't think anyone else will disagree with that, a lot of people liked you, just didn't trust you.

Zarfot:

I really appreciate how you were one of the few people to approach me willing to form an alliance, even though from what I could learn you did this to a lot of people. I think that your mistake was taking this game too seriously. When the first words you speak to a person are "I won't vote you if you don't vote me" or something like that, you are missing the gist of the game. Many times forming genuine connections can lead you further than pure strategic talk. Still, I had fun being close to you for the first weeks.

Ginga

FannyChmelar: ginga!!! robbed of being a juror. jack ily n you know ily what more needs to be said. these hoes were SCARED of you and got you out bc of it n it was sad bc you really were a force to be reckoned with. :-)

Fred: Hello Ginga my old Friend. God, you know, when everyone else told me you were a snake in ORGs, I guess I should've believed them, haha. The number of times you threw your allies under the bus just to save yourself, it honestly shocked me. But outside the game, I think you're a really funny and likable person, I really enjoyed playing with you none the less!

Zarfot:

I think you once said: "Do you guys sometimes forget zarfot is here?". Guess what, I'm still here ;)

I have always respected your game, you are clearly someone who knows what he's doing. From the start you were clearly a driving force in the game, and thus I had to make sure you had to leave soon. I don't regret my votes the two times you were nominated, although I would have liked for you to stay a bit more to stir things up. I also don't forget you were one of the first people to approach me, and the advice you gave me on my first nomination. Thank you for that.

qrstuv

FannyChmelar: RYANNNNNN. <3 ILY TONS and you deserved MUCH BETTER than to go out the way you did. you didn't deserve to go n you were 100% real w/ me at all times even when for the first like what, 5 votes we were always on opposite sides? but that for me strengthened how close we were n i love and respect you tons. its been so tough not being able to talk w/ you so i hope once all of this is over we can talk daily bc ur a LAUGH.

Fred: Qrs! Whew, I definitely think we got off to a great start in the game, even if we didn't talk THAT much in the middle of it. I had your back and I knew you had mine, and I think that was kind of enough then. You never really made too many appearances in the house chat, but, except at the end where you called Dooze out, every contribution you made was a positive one, and I enjoyed working with you. Even if we totally screwed up the week you were evicted.

Zarfot:

Ryan!! You are a great guy and I really enjoyed being allies for most of the game. I still feel pretty bad for having to vote you out, but I did it because I thought that was the best for my game at that time. In retrospective my vote didn't change much, and considering how shitty I felt after it I would have taken it back. But what is done is done. You played a very similar game to mine in terms of style and maybe it was for the best. Thank you for being my ice glass challenge buddy :)

baabaa

FannyChmelar: emma!! aaa. you were probably my closest ally in the clusterfuck once feist left bc you brought such a positive nature to the game and you were by far the nicest person here. that kinda changed when things occurred and we kinda drifted apart and it really made me sad because we were close and i felt like i could tell you anything. i know that you're a really lovely person it was just in game in the environment it became very hard to trust and it was so tough voting you out. i love love love you and i hope our friendship can truly blossom after this is over. =)

Fred: You suck. Like a lot. In all honesty, Emma, I probably wouldn't have even signed up for this game if I didn't know that you were also signing up. You were my closest ally since day 1 and, even though I know you were working with other people, particularly Dean, I still trusted you with everything. You were never very active in the housechat, but I still had an amazing time playing with you nonetheless.

Zarfot:

Emma, it's a real shame that we really just started talking the week you were leaving. You are a very sweet person, and I think your social game was on point. At the beginning of the game I didn't think much about you, I just saw you as an extension of fred. But as the weeks went by, I realized you were a very strong player individually, and that we had many things in common gamewise. Unfortunately I had to vote you out when I got the chance cause I knew that if it wasn't that week then it would have been really difficult to beat you.

verumbark

FannyChmelar: aaaa verumbark. the person i had to vote multiple times just to get out when most of it wasn't even intentional or with the thought to truly get you out. we had a kinda rough bumpy start to the game since i had knew you were leaking stuff n you were untrustworthy, but as i got to know you more and more i realised what a great soul you truly are. you definitely deserved your place in this game and you really surprised me at how GOOD you were. i feel as if in other circumstances we would have made it really far together but shit happened. i love you tons n stay being yourself bc you are amazing and you deserve good shit to happen to you.

Fred: Oh, whew, did we have an interesting game together. Allies turned rivals, it was honestly quite the story. And, honestly, I'm as surprised that I beat you as you are. You were resilient, when I thought you were going home for sure week 3, WHAM, you survived. During anonymous week when you were against Jack, I thought there was no way you'd survive again, but you did it. When I put you against Qrs, I genuinely thought 100% you'd be going home, I thought I had planned everything out, but you beat me once again, you somehow managed to pull it off, and I think that's a testament to how strong a player you were. I hope there were no hard feelings between us after all that, but I think we made perfect rivals in this game.

Zarfot:

My fellow scaper :') From day 1 I knew your strong attitude will take you really far, but I never anticipated you could be such a strong player and great ally. You helped me out a lot during the first weeks of jury, and I am very grateful for it. I really would have wanted to stick with you for longer. Every time you were nominated I thought that's it, it's verum's time to leave, but every time you surprised me. Luckily for me we were nominated together in the ff week, cause if it was a normal week I'm sure i would have been the one to leave. Thank you for being a wonderful human being.

Markus

FannyChmelar: will. you were the person that i didn't expect to be such good friends with tbh. we had kind of clicked immediately even though we weren't immediately talking bc of difference in alliances and shit but once we started working together it was really nice bc I knew i could tell you anything and you would do the same back. you were an amazing player and that's definitely why i had to vote you when i did bc if i didn't you + your f2 would have controlled the game! we kinda had a falling out ish incident whenever it was you and emma up on the block but we quickly resolved it even though i'm still lowkey mad at you for breaking our streak. p.s sorry for elimming you right after you saved me from going in FF week. i rly did appreciate it.

Fred: Markus, our game together was kind of bumpy at times, but I really do like to think we were allies for the bulk of the time. I remember immediately after I saw you win your first arcade challenge in HoH #1 that you were someone who I thought would be a hecking strong competitor (I think I messaged you like right after you won, lol), and I guess I was right, because you made it extremely far. We had allies and enemies in common, but were never officially aligned, I think. We fought, but always made up super quickly, and I think that's important. We were able to resolve our issues whenever we had them. I think about your eviction a lot, like probably every day. I ended up making a gut decision that day and I'm still wondering if it was the right one, and often times I think that maybe if that didn't happen, you could've gone on to be the winner of this game. But you don't strike me as the bitter type, so I don't feel like I have to justify my decision to you. As a competitor, you were smart, capable, and made very good allies. I hope we can still keep in touch after this is over!

Zarfot:

Markus, my man. You were one of the first people to talk to me, and the fact that we connected that fast was a great sign to me that you would be a great ally. Since week 1 we stuck together, and I truly think the Outsiders was one of the strongest and long-lasting alliances. Your game was always on point, every suggestion you made and every discussion we had about the course of our game was really insightful and helped me shape my strategy a lot. I am really sorry it had to be you vs me in the week you left, but at the same time I agree with you it was a poetic way to end it. I am happy to say I now have a friend in New Zealand :) FannyChmelar: umm there isn't rly much to be said here. you thought i was sneaky, i thought you were sneaky. at the end of the day it's just the game being played. you were a threat to me and i had to do whatever i could to get you out to further my game bc if i didn't, you'd continue going for me whenever possible. we never really talked @ all in the game and you didn't really air any issues with me before the whole 'sneaky fuck' situation so it really caught me off guard. you were fun to play against bc you kept me on my toes at least. :) god knows i needed a good old rival. don't hate me tho. you did nom me twice after all!! LOL

dooze

Fred: Dooze! Boy, were you a strong HoH competitor, we ran the HoH game. And I think that's why, just like me, we ended up making as many enemies as we did. It wasn't really our fault, these were just decisions that had to be made. We worked together at some points, and at others we struggled a bit (Qrs comes to mind) but I don't think we ever really had a sour relationship during this game. You're doing a great job running sandbox and I'm going to keep doxxing you over snapchat, but for the most part stay cool, my dude.

Zarfot:

Dooze, something I love about you is that you seem to be a really passionate person when it comes to the things you love doing. From your studies to the community you manage, everything you do you do it with passion. And I think the same can be said about how you played this game. We were never close allies, but I always enjoyed our little talks, and the fact that you were open and honest with me. When I had to choose nominees, I knew you were a strong option not because of everyone else's opinion on you, but because I genuinely feel you were the strongest player left, and if it ever came to you vs me in the end I would have no chances. I hope you can see that.

deandean

FannyChmelar: ummm aaa. dean you were a rly good player. you made it much farther than i thought you would so kudos for that. we never really got along 100% bc there was just a massive lack of communication in general. our relationship hit a really tough stride when you called me out but we kinda mended it but i don't really know how genuine it actually was if i'm being completely honest. we were working together kinda from f6 onwards and ofc i was the person who elimmed you and i was shocked at your reaction bc I in no way shape or form wanted you to have that kind of reaction. i thought you'd be more understanding of my decision even if it was the wrong one in your mind. i don't hold your anger against you because i'm sure i'd feel the exact same way in your position, it just really caught me by surprise. ummm soo ya i am sorry our game went that way but it's just the game :/ likkee it's rly hard bc i don't know if you're pissed at me in the game sense or as a person sense so it's rly awkward for me ngl. i hope you kinda see where i was coming from if you got a chance to really read what i had to say and i hope you don't hold it against me bc it really was a horrible choice to make.

Fred: Dean, my other rival. Its occurring to me just now how many people I've had to call a rival, no wonder I got voted "who do you most want to see get out" in Touchy Subjects. Anyways, I'm not going to lie, I spent pretty much all of the early game trying to get rid of you. The only thing that really kept me from doing it was Baabaa telling me I shouldn't. But once she left, I think a lot of our rivalry died down and we stopped targeting each other (even if I am the only person who's ever nominated you). You were a polarizing figure in the household, but when you were active, you were strong. And I think that surprised everyone. Going from first boot to final four is honestly really impressive, and I mean that, I'm extremely impressed that you got that far.

Zarfot:

Being nominated so many times gives you a clear perspective on who's on your side and who's not. And given all the times you voted to evict me, I always assumed you and I could never work together. But these last few weeks proved otherwise. I finally understood your game and your decisions, and how you got this far. I am very grateful for the talks we had, and I'm sorry you had to be the one to get out last week. It was a lot of fun playing together with you. And also that exit was iconic :)