Mesa College Classes – Juniors

The following classes come as a pair, one fall and one spring. They may take up one or two class periods, depending on whether the classes are entirely online or if in-person where the professor comes on campus one day per week. Must have at least a 3.0+ (3.5+ preferred) in related coursework for online only. Classes are transferable to CSU and UC colleges. Can take more than one each semester.

FALL	SPRING
Elective - Business Communications (119); 3 Units; (Online or in-person, 1 or 2 periods required) Description: This course applies the principles of effective and ethical communication to the creation of letters, memos, emails, and written and oral reports for a variety of business situations. The course emphasizes the development, analysis, organization, and composition of various types of professionally written messages, analytical reports, and business presentations using word processing and presentation-graphics software. Other topics include interpersonal communication, electronic media, and international/cross-cultural communication. This course is intended for students majoring in business and for others working in a business environment.	US Hist/Ethnic St - Chicano Studies (141A); 3 Units; (Online or in-person, 1 or 2 periods required) Description: This course is a survey of early American history from the Mexican/Chicano perspective. Emphasis is placed on the period of discovery to the period of Reconstruction with emphasis on the evolution, influence, and experience of the Chicano. Students analyze Chicano contributions to the political, social, economic, and cultural development of the United States. Or Elective - Interpersonal Communications (135); 3 Units; (Online, 1 or 2 periods required) Description: This course is a study of effective interpersonal skill development and practice in oral and written communication. Emphasis is placed on the personal, situational, and cultural influences of interaction. Topics include human perception, interpersonal dynamics, listening, conflict management, and verbal and nonverbal symbol systems. The course is intended for students who communicate in one-on-one situations.
Math 150/Fall, 151/Spring (Calculus with Analytical Geometry I/II) or 254/Fall (Linear Alg), and 245/Spring (Discrete Math) may be appropriate for some students. Please discuss w/your school counselor.
