Can’t Eat Money and You Can’t Eat Cash Alison Burns

Bass

Remember, remember, remember this x4

Altos and Tenors

Oh you can’t eat, oh no you can’t eat money
No you can’t eat, -- can’t eat cash
Oh you can’t eat, oh no no no no
Can’t eat money and you can’t eat cash

Sopranos

When the last bird is silent
And the last river is dry
And icebergs have melted to the sea
And light has wasted the dark night sky

All (SAT only)

When the last bird (is silent)
And the last river (is dry)
And icebergs (have melted to the sea)
And light has wasted the dark night sky

Only after the last tree has been cut down, after the last river has been poisoned, after the last fish has been caught, only then will you find that money cannot be eaten. (Cree Indian Proverb)