

Prioritization of IUU

Fishing Threats

would allow us to

properly allocate our

resources for more
targeted approaches
in reducing the
specific threat.

Setting S.M.A.R.T.
targets for specific IUU Fishing Threats
would allow us to track

our progress and
measure how effective
our responses are in reducing the threat.

Understanding the
vulnerability factors and root causes of specific types of IUU Fishing

Threats would help us
in identifying the
barriers and gaps in our current responses.

Reducing IUU fishing
can be done through a
suite of interventions,
ranging from

compliance promotion
among stakeholders
and enforcement
against violators.