Many eggs need to be transported safely from one village to another, and some even over continents! It is your task to transport the dragons eggs across different villages or locations.

Depict your dragons as they transport these eggs safely, perhaps even running into trouble along the way. Are they alone, or do they have someone helping them? If it's cold, how are they keeping the eggs warm and safe during the travels? Are they in the skies above, or traveling by foot?

Cassian was dumbfounded. They were in the middle of transporting eggs- and Vargr was carrying them which was already out of the ordinary but now? Now a sapiere had turned to face him and was snapping that it was because it was nice. Even a darned celestial feline was hissing at him as if that was true!

"...Nice?" He struggled to get that word out and ever so slightly his face cracked. It was a small smile, but he tried to force it back into a frown, but then it cracked up and he began to laugh. "Nice!! Someone is calling Vargr nice??? Vargr!?!?" He couldn't help but find the whole sight to be quite funny.

Vargr puffed up as Cassian were to laugh at this. Don't mock her like this! "We aren't fighting." The other ravager of their party had come to try and calm them down but in this instance she didn't particularly appreciate it. "This is just a mild disagreement!"

"NICE!!" Cassian only cackled more

Much like how the celestial feline had puffed up to hiss at him Vargr was doing the same. "Mild disagreement of someone being an idiot! I can be... nice sometimes!" To think it strange really wasn't a bizzare reaction, but with Foxtrott there she didn't want to come off as usual!

Queeny also paused as she heard the argument arising. From Reness she looked back to see them all arguing and even Sovereign paused in pulling the cart. The group would mess this up huh? Thats what Reness said. "Hmm.... They might." Queeny said and she reached a paw out to pull out the celestial feline from her batch of eggs. Bringing them to her chest and resting her head on them. "They very well might."

Sovereign snorted at that as he looked at it. "There is no might. They will." he said with a heavy sigh and slowly he turned the cart around. It was caught within the mud but he could pull it free. It wasn't always easy to pull this cart, especially not with queeny in it and the snow that was melting but he managed even so. "Shouldn't you all have this- mild disagreement while walking?" He asked and Queeny nodded.

"We can't be late with the eggs~" She chirped out to agree with her fish counterpart. "If you keep arguing like this you might break some of them~"

The forest ground seemed to grow more and more muddy. Perhaps they should really focus on the sight and view but. For this group first struggles seemed to arise. Foxtrott Was laughed at. Her Feline made an effort to scratch after cassian but Was way too far away for that to work. Foxtrott starred at the golden Wyvern. "Well you sure are not nice. But vargr is." She bounced over to the wolflike dragon and brushed against them once. "They like helping!" They where way way nicer than this grumpy golden manywings! She carried the eggs safety still but now that she spoke out her point, she continued to walk forward to finish their travel.

Scrala saw this Action... and made a gagging Sound. "Damn get a Room!" She spoke looking clearly disgusted by this Display. What the hell? Where they a couple or what ? Ew. Get away you lovely things. Her fur attempted to rise on her back just for her to start shaking herself at that. Pew. But that Action.. it caused Rodel to yelp. And rush over to her again, just in time to catch not one but two falling eggs. "Don't be so mindless!" He complained out. But scrala just made a mocking motion towards him. His ears dropped. Selfish fluffy dragon that was! Pah. His eyes went to foxtrott and vargr. Why was scrala so mean? Those two looked so so cute... one grump and one happy bouncy dragon.

Reness watched it all. With a bored expression. "This group is Chaos incarnade." How dis they even get this far? That was the question of the day. Of the week maybe even. And a mystery. Reness looked back onto her back to see if her eggs where fine.. which they where. Of course they where. Her way of carrying them was ideal. Soft but stabile. She could feel each of the eggs laying right there~

Honestly seeing the cat trying to scratch him just made it even better as he laughed. "Oh my gods- Vargr as-" His words stopped dead as she said he wasn't nice. "Hey! I'm much nicer than she is usually!" He tried to protest this but he watched how Vargr just puffed her fur up even more and leaned in against the foxlike Sapiere who brushed against her.

"Its two against one~"

"Three if you count the cat." Queeny couldn't help but chime in this small fact and Vargr laughed. If the guppy emperor were to say anyone was nice, it was not going to be Vargr but really she wasn't here to start an argument with so many of them. The imperial didn't seem to notice nor care that Queeny didn't include herself in the count as she just beamed even more.

"Three against one!" Vargr said as if it proved her point and turned forward to waddle after the one who had defended her. Leaving Cassian in the dust behind them looking disturbed at this turn of events.

Sovereign watched it all occur and as the eggs slipped down off of Scrala's back as she went to mock the two love-birds his fur rose up in dismay. They almost broke them! Did he not just warn about this?? "If you're going to drop them all then just put them in my cart, it's safer than with you." He said as he stood still. Letting Reness go further ahead so that he could take the eggs of those who might destroy them. "Rodel- I'll take those. You just... keep making sure no one else drops any."

Queeny looked over to sovereign at that. "So bossy~ He can probably keep them safe." She pointed out and Sovereign stuck out his tongue.

"He probably can which is why he should be free to catch any more that fall!"

Foxtrott seemed pretty proud of how the other was offended. That's right! Take that as a lesson to improve yourself! The Feline Stuck her tongue out against cassian as they left him behind. "The Village won't be much further away~" She hummed to the group, bouncing forward rather happily. But letting vargr catch up to her. "You are doing so great! I can see how hard you are trying! And look how they are all still safe!" She started praising the Wolf while bouncing around them. Really... perhaps it was more impressive how foxtrott could jump around like that without breaking any of the eggs in her hold. But they were all safe and Sound. All epic. All Nice.

Scrala turned to the fish approaching with a snort. "Yeah sure take them I dont care. This whole Party is just lame." She growled out with an angry face. Did she look like she wanted any of this??? No sir. Surprice. She didn't! She was just dragged along. On this so called adventure. And urgh. Rodel looked to them and gladly gave them the eggs. "Alright. Might ve better. .." He agreed. Giving the eggs to them quickly, then turned to get the last Egg off of scralas back. "You. Should watch out for danger!" Rodel gave to scrala as he carried the Egg after the fish dude. Scrala squinted. As if she was thinking about just hitting that shiny dragon in the Butt. But she didn't. Not this time at least

Reness shoke her head at this "i miss my ocean... there eggs won't break that easily. cause they floating ." She hummed in deep thought. Ohh yes. A nice bath would be nice now. And some fish? Yes some fish please. Hngggg. Oh how she missed her home already
