Friday Feature - Eric S. (HSO)

Minimum wage, pizza coupons, and 18hr work days. Eric started his journey from scratch.

Straight out of law school he began his professional career as a law firm associate in Georgia.

Even though “associate” sounds prestigious, the title did not provide a cushy, easy lifestyle. Instead, it provided the perfect environment for gaining experience and skills.

Eric’s first years consisted of being paid minimum wage while working 18 hour days. He lived off of pizza coupons and day old bread, and only asked for a raise once he earned a quarter-million dollars in billings.

However, when he asked for this raise, his boss said “Rather than give you a raise, I think you should go out on your own”

Since then, everything has become history.

Eric’s experience, unstoppable drive, and knack for business led to him creating the region’s premier full-service firm.

Today, he is ready to work with you. Start a conversation here
