As a Psychic, Spiritual Counselor and Medium for nearly two decades, and for many additional years as a psychotherapist, teacher and public speaker I have assisted people from all walks of life. People who are seeking practical guidance and tools for their daily lives, answers to spiritual questions, communication with their loved ones who have died, and comfort from their grief and peace of mind receive readings.

As a speaker, talking about spiritual topics with large and small groups is also something I really enjoy. Learning about our unseen world can be fun and educational.

I believe that we are meant to be in contact with the Spirit World to help us throughout our lives. When we use these resources our own spirit begins to bloom.

I invite you to spend a few moments with my website to learn more about my work and how I might be able to assist you.

Mary Ann Bohrer was 25 when she met Nancy Myer, a teacher and psychic, while both were appearing on KDKA-TV's "Pittsburgh 2Day" in the early 1980s.

The Squirrel Hill woman had her first personal reading a few years later at Ms. Myer's home in Latrobe. Ms. Bohrer had just been offered a public relations job with Ketchum in New York City. She hoped to work there for six months, then transfer to Ketchum's Pittsburgh office.

"I was nervous. I had never talked to a psychic before," she said.

"Mary Ann, I'm sorry to tell you this, but you're going to live in New York for several years," Ms. Myer said.

"That was not what I wanted to hear. I did not want to leave Squirrel Hill," Ms. Bohrer said.

Between 1986 and 2000, when a round-trip plane ticket from New York to Pittsburgh cost $110, she logged 14 years at Ketchum and other firms, often flying home on weekends. One particular project led her to further explore psychic ability and changed her life.

As 2000 loomed, fear of major computer glitches and Y2K fever spawned books, movies and television shows. To promote a digital Millennium Clock at 34th Street and Seventh Avenue in New York City, Ms. Bohrer gathered 24 psychics who offered predictions to more than 70 journalists at a T.G.I. Friday's in Manhattan. That event planted the seed for her book, published in March.

Mediocre psychics and mediums are “pretty much picking up on your hopes and dreams,” she said. They reinforce negative stereotypes. Madame Vivelda's outlandish costume for a satirical reading on last week's “Saturday Night Live” is just one example.

“It's about my life and how psychic ability works. I'm trying to explain how to do police work well. I understand what the cops are up against legally,” she said.

Psychic ability is “a naturally occurring talent. The part of it that people don't understand is that it's a life-saving talent. When you get a hunch that you need to watch the road more closely, and then a crash happens in front of you. ... When you feel someone is following you at night, don't ignore it.
