

1934 Nuclear Testing

Most nuclear programs were said to have began in 1939, when Nazi Germany began the first Nuclear Weapons program. The theory is that the groundwork for what eventually became nuclear bomb began with smaller scale testing of nuclear chain reactions in 1934, long before major government began the race for the atomic bomb. A couple of major theories/inventions relating to Nuclear Weapon development (Nuclear Chain Reactions, synthetic elements) had been invented around this time and massive bombs had been theorized before

1707 Lost Photo

So the story behind this one (not a lot of info) is that there's a photograph allegedly showing Mount Fuji before the devastating 1707 Hōei Eruption. Apparently the mountain was somewhat noticeably different before the eruption

Since photography wasn't widely accepted to have been a refined process before the late 1700's, it would imply that some sort of photographic technology existed before then. Whatever happened to it (if it existed) is unknown.

320 Satanic Heresy

So the Council of Nicea is the biggest council in the history of Christianity, held in 325. It was created in response to multitudes of debates throughout the church in an effort to better unite the church on issues. One theory about the motivation was believed to have a serious satanic influence on the early church, especially controversial theories that were propagating in those days. Some early Christian belief systems were linked to or believed to be linked to satanic/satanic influenced thinking. Certain sects were known to pray for Satan back in that time

Uncontacted Tribes in the United States

There are some reports of various off the grid people living in national parks especially, leading some to theorize that they're Native tribes that were never integrated. There's at least one story of wild people living in the forests of the Northwest that had advanced medical knowledge. Some hypotheses/stories also suggested that Sasquatches live in tribal communities.

1969 Asteroid Landing

The theory is that the moon landings were actually conducted on an asteroid instead of the moon. Variation of the moon landing hoax conspiracy.

Japanese Interference US Civil War

During the American Civil War, certain Japanese elements (angry at the US who had militarily threatened them years earlier) conducted some conflicts with the US navy while the United States were weakened during the middle of the Civil War in order to weaken their influence earlier. Also some Japanese citizens traveled to fight for the confederacy though that's more minor

Dan Schneider 4chan Whistleblower

4chan had discussions of Dan Schneider allegedly abusing children a decade (2011ish) before things came to light, and years before any other website or media person was talking about the abuse allegations. This had led to the theory that some one or ones on 4chan were aware of what Dan was doing while the abuse was going on

1974 Serial Killer Study

Theory that the US federal government allowed some serial killers to continue operating for a time in order to better study criminal behavior and psychological patterns. Law enforcement agencies would tail the suspect however allow them to continue the killings. Primarily conducted in areas where killers targeted the less well off of society

George Lucas Secret Films

After Star Wars was sold to Disney, George Lucas mostly retired. He worked on a CGI animated film called Strange Magic and I believe he's working on Indiana Jones 5. Other than that he hasn't done any major film work besides some minor consultations.

George Lucas however has said that he's been making "private" films on occasion. We basically have no info about these films, and they've been theorized to be a wide range of things. One of the more prominent theories is that Lucas funded a privately made CGI creation for his original plan for the sequel trilogy.

Sandy Hook Mandela Effect

Sandy Hook Mandela Effect is about people who claim to remember seeing the internal CCTV tapes of the massacres released online/to the media, despite this video not being released ever. Hence the Mandela Effect

Biblical Leviathan Sightings

The Leviathan is said to be a large ocean dwelling creature mentioned in the Bible. While many believe it to be a metaphor, some have looked for a creature that could've inspired it. A couple of sightings of unknown animals, most notably the Many Finned Sea Serpent, Cleary's Fish, Marine Saurian, Kraken, and Many Humped sea serpent have been theorized to be the creature that inspired the Leviathan's description

Yura Yesusov

Yura Yesusov is basically an alleged serial killer operating in Russia. He's been connected to online video blogs and personality tests but these are lost

Iki Ningyo footage

Iki Ningyo footage is an alleged video of a statue of Mary crying tears of blood in Japan. The Catholic Church was unable to debunk the case despite their investigations. The video itself is lost.

1901 Everest Expedition

1901 Everest Expedition is a theory that there was an attempt to surmount the mountain prior to 1922 (the first attempt). Apparently in later expeditions they found some things on the mountain (notes, time placed clothing) that alluded to there being some sort of expedition conducted sometime in 1901, despite none being known of. It's unknown what happened to the expedition, though of course some would suggest the meh-teh or yeti

Calvine Photo Floating Island

The Calvine Photo is a formerly lost photo of an unidentified object over Calvine Scotland. The thing was pretty controversial and lost for years. Eventually it was found, and a lot of people thought that it looked like some sort of floating island. The manner it was said to move in was very bizarre and unlike other flying vessels we have, suggesting some sort of advanced technology

Romans in the Americas

Romans in the Americas is a theory that Romans of the Roman Empire visited the Americas sometime before Columbus. This is backed up by some Roman legends/stories and items such as jars found in South America

Extinct Animal Trading Rings

A trading ring in Francophone African countries of certain extinct/unknown animals and animal parts. These animals are a type of hominid (ape) and prehistoric lizard/dinosaur

ID Software Covered up the Columbine Mods

So ID Software created the Doom games. In the wake of Columbine, a TON of media from Natural Born Killers to Nine Inch Nails to the Doom game got blamed. However, there were multiple reports from students and acquaintances of Eric Harris (one of the killers) that Harris had recreated Columbine High School in Doom to use as practice. Strangely these reports all but disappeared within a year of the shooting and the recreation of the game was never found.

The theory goes that ID, since if this mod was ever found would cause a lot of issues with the company, covered it up. They could've offered hush money to the students who knew about it, or lobbied the local sheriff's office to destroy the hard drive that contained the mod (multiple possessions created by the shooters ended up being destroyed years after)

4% medical malpractice study

So around 250-400k people die in the US every year alone because or in part due to medical errors. This (take with a grain of salt) refers to a rumor that there was an anonymous study of some of these deaths that found that about 4% of these deaths were intentional "mistakes"

Uncanny Valley Predator

Theory that the Uncanny Valley was created because early human ancestors ran into contact with some unknown predator that looked eerily similar to humans but wasn't one. The known existence of other human species in the recent past, such as Neanderthals and Denisovans, could be interpreted as a point in support of this theory.

1751 French Military Car

Cars weren't really accepted as being invented in the late 1800's, with some early poorly working steam ones were created as early as the 1600's. This theory states that the French had an early working automobile that was used in military conflicts (in support positions as it wasn't advanced enough for military conflict) and that these vehicles were mostly lost to history, despite giving a fairly big advantage in warfare. France was also the place where historically accepted early automobiles were invented

Ammonite Sightings

Ammonite sightings are basically alleged sightings of Ammonites, very early animal life. If they still existed they would be very significant in terms of what they meant to evolution, the development of life and zoology. It's worth noting that there is some paleontological evidence to suggest that some Ammonites made it past the K-Pg mass extinction (event that killed the dinosaurs) and lasted a little bit longer in the fossil record.

Oswald Wasn't Aiming at JFK

Governor John Connally (who was shot and survived). Oswald had more material/evidence linking him to trying to assassinate Connally than JFK, and Connally was actually hit during the assassination attempt.

6500 B.C. Writing

Theory that certain cave paintings, markings and other things left behind by early humans represented some type of advanced written language that wasn't deciphered yet beyond just symbols. Think about it like hieroglyphs

Black Plague was a Biological Agent

The black plague was intentionally spread by the Golden Horde into Europe and Africa. This was done as the Horde was weakening at the time and their conquests were failing.

German Alien TV Hijack

Link

The Descent based on a true story

The Descent features animals similar to Crawlers, which are said to be a humanoid pale creature that's been sighted across the US, usually near caves. The movie is fictionalized but Crawlers are said to attack people and seem like the creatures in the movie

2016 Coup Attempt

The electoral college in the US works by assigning a representative who votes on who should be president. Whoever gets 270 electoral votes wins the election.

There was a concentrated effort to get electoral college members to change their vote away from Donald Trump to another candidate. The methods used were lobbying and allegedly threats and bribes. Some political figures were mentioning that they had dozens upon dozens of votes to change the result of the election but in the end only half a dozen changed their vote.

MJ Triple Double Streak Was to Pay Off Gambling Debts

During the 1989 NBA season Michael Jordan was openly asking the scorers table what he needed to do to reach a triple double (ten points, rebounds, and assists in one game). He ended up going on a nine game streak of having triple doubles, something very uncommon in those times. The theory is that since Michael was connected to gambling later in his career, he had this triple double strea

Antarctic Cryptozoology

Antarctic Cryptozoology is basically the study of Cryptids in the Antarctic. Although there are a limited amount of sightings because of the lack of people there, the few sightings we have are extremely significant. One specific sighting was of a large mammal sighted by a Japanese ship that rivaled the size of an entire island

Material 13

A material allegedly mentioned in CIA documents. It was supposedly used to create VooDoo zombie slaves in Haiti

1896 Bigfoot Corpse

Link

LBJ/MJ Coverup

Around the year 2000 LeBron and Michael Jordan were playing a pickup game together. As far as we know, only this photo from it survived. The rumor about this game is that a young 16 year old LeBron was much better than Jordan was, and once LeBron entered the NBA and started to rival Jordan's case as the best player ever, Jordan used his billions to cover the story up

Winona Ryder Studio Sabotage

During the late 1980's, both the Godfather Part 3 and Goodfellas were being filmed. At the last minute, Winona Ryder, who was to play Michael Corleone's daughter in Godfather 3, dropped out due to nervous exhaustion, resulting in her being replaced by future oscar winner Sofia Coppola. Sofia's performance in the movie was widely panned and contributed to the film not earning as much as the original. The theory goes that Warner Brothers, not wanting Godfather 3 to completely overshadow Goodfellas, contributed to Ryder's sickness.

1934 Celebrity Zoo

During the economic recession of the 1930's, in some of the more economically hard hit countries of the west the ultra rich built "human zoo's" consisting of celebrities that were hit harder by the market crash. Typically targeted older retired celebrities of the time and people who were laid off of the entertainment industry. The "zoo's" would recreate what the celebrities were most famous for, nightclubs for musicians, elaborate stages for plays some actors were famous for, and film sets for movie stars

Disney Fascist Cartoons

During the 1940s Disney was tasked by the US government to create goodwill in Latin America, where some countries had positive relationships with Nazi Germany. When Disney created these movies initially, due to a misunderstanding of the political situations in some of the countries they had inadvertently put some fascist associated quotes and fascist imagery in the film. Some live action videos of Latin American cities that feature in the movies also initially contained noticeable fascist imagery. When Disney found this out they cut out these segments and brushed the whole thing under the rug.

9/11 Fifth Plane Theory

<https://why.org/articles/the-5th-plane-to-be-seized-on-911-and-the-terrorists-who-got-away/>