

Steps in a Process Structure

Explaining steps in a process works for presentations when you are teaching someone how to do something or explaining how something, like a machine, biological process, or a government procedure, works.

