

Additional Credit Opportunities

Online or Correspondence Courses

District-approved online or correspondence courses may be taken by students who wish to earn additional credits. Prior approval by the student's parents and the student's counselor is required before the student enrolls in online or correspondence courses. Students shall not be awarded credit toward graduation if approval was not granted prior to enrollment.

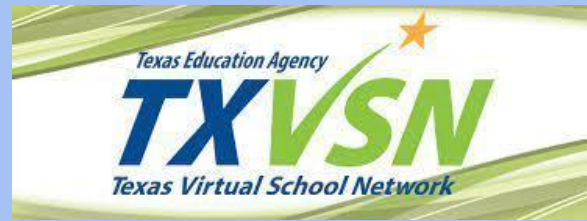

Due to the rigor of these courses, students are advised to enroll in only one online or correspondence course at a time. Graduating seniors must have all online and/or correspondence course work including final exams completed by December 1 for mid-term graduates and May 1 for spring graduates.

The correspondence courses are completed through:

ECISD Edgenuity on-line courses and TXVSN.

The Texas Virtual School Network is a clearinghouse of rigorous online courses offered by approved providers. Because the Texas Education Agency approves all courses, students can be assured that courses meet the state's high standards for teaching and learning.

The instruction and content of these electronic courses are delivered over the internet. They are very rigorous and must have campus approval. TXVSN high school courses are aligned with the TEKS and led by online instructors with Texas certification in the course subject area and grade level. The combination of subject area knowledge with training in the unique methods for delivering online instruction provides Texas students with a quality interactive learning experience.
