Name:	Date: Week:
Science in the News Directions: 1) Find an article or podcast about a recent scientific discovery or issue. You may use the resources in the box on the right to find a story 2) Provide a citation. 3) Use the Habits of Mind to analyze and write about your article.	y. www.sciencenewsforstudents.org www.nytimes.com/section/science Podcasts:)
Citation: Name of article:
Authors:
Journal/URL:
(online) Date published: (print)) year: volume: issue:
Perspective
What claim is being made?
Who is making it?
Evidence
What's the proof?
How did they come up with that claim?

Relevance
Tielevance
Why is the claim or issue important?
Who should care about this claim or issue and why?
Connections
How does this article relate to other things you know?
How does this article relate to your life?
Supposition
What questions
does this article
bring up?
Write some "what if"
questions.	