

Hi Cleveland Clinic!

I've been checking out your website and upon closer analysis, I noticed,that you are selling several eCoaching Program,sleeping program and more

I honestly considered the eCoaching Program but the only reason i didnt is that i read the description of the program and wasn't quite convinced

Lets take for example this line “Our wellness coaching programs are designed to help participants create sustainable behavior change to meet their goals of weight loss, better health, and improved energy and vitality”

Let's fix it!

“Unleash the power of transformation with our exclusive wellness coaching programs tailored just for you . Discover a journey designed to revolutionize your life—achieve sustainable behavior change, conquer weight loss challenges, optimize your health, and experience newfound energy and vitality. Your path to lasting well-being starts here!”

Don't you think it would be better like that? And convincing for people to buy?

I know how important your business is to you. Just imagine the people who won't change their day-to-day lives and make life-changing transformations because the description of the product didn't quite convince them

Trust me i see a lot other factors that could help with and a lot of potential in your business and i know that i can actually help you achieve the best possible results

If you would like to talk more about actually improving your wellness clinic

Warmly,

Julien nehme
