

Jim The Frog

By Daniel
Part 3

At the end of Part 2 Jim left from Chicago (USA) to Auckland (NZ). He was very excited to leave for New Zealand. He had always wanted to go somewhere else. But when the plane took off he started to feel claustrophobic. Mainly because the person who's bag he hid in was full of books. But inside was actually a device that tracked if any animals came into the suitcase. Jim did not know this so when he stood on it accidentally the suitcase exploded. The plane was just off the coast of Los Angeles when the explosion happened. So the plane made an emergency landing but not where you would think. Instead of landing at Los Angeles Airport thanks to some malfunction in the cockpit it landed at Santa Monica Airport instead. The runway at Santa Monica Airport was too short. So shortly after it landed it crashed into 23rd Street. It was all over the news. Nobody died but everyone was injured. When they looked in the luggage department they found the bag with all the books in it. However the person who did it knew they would get arrested so he ran away. Then the plane had a massive explosion. It went to Venice Beach, Los Angeles Airport, West Covina and all the way up to Sanata Clarita. A few people died (16). But almost 2,000 people were injured.

Jim quickly ran away. After the big explosion all flights into Los Angeles were cancelled.

Next time Jim will go on an adventure.
But not the adventure you're thinking of.

Part 4 coming out Wednesday next week.

The End

Here is a photo of Jim

