

Rosewood Essential Oil

Everything's coming up roses with Rosewood Essential Oil (Peru). Rosewood is an evergreen tree, considered endangered, found in parts of the tropical rainforest of South America. Our Rosewood Oil is cultivated in Peruvian plantations and is certified by the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species. Rosewood Oil was traditionally used by Amazonian Indigenous Peoples for its aromatic properties and for promoting wellbeing. Today, it's a wonderful addition to perfumery for its floral, rose-like scent, and in skin care for its rejuvenating properties.

Native to South America, Rosewood trees grow up to 30 meters (about 98 feet) tall with slender crowns, leathery oval leaves, and clusters of dull red flowers.

Botanical Name: Aniba rosaeodora

Main Constituents: Linalool: 70–90%

Plant Part: Wood, Branches, and Leaves.

Origin: Peru

Processing Type: Steam Distilled

Color/Consistency: A thin, clear, colorless to pale yellow liquid.

Aromatic Summary / Note / Strength of Aroma: A top note with a medium aroma, this oil has a floral and slightly woody scent.

Blends With: Cedarwood, Geranium, Rosemary, Mandarin, Ylang-ylang.

BENEFITS

Premium Peruvian: Our Rosewood Essential Oil is meticulously cultivated and extracted to ensure it meets rigorous standards for purity and sustainability.

Responsibly Made: By supporting ethical sourcing from Peruvian plantations, our Rosewood Essential Oil contributes to conservation efforts for the endangered Rosewood tree, native to the tropical rainforests of South America.

Best of Both Scents: The fragrance of Rosewood is just how it sounds: rose-like floral mixed with a subtle woodiness, offering a sophisticated and calming aroma.

Turn Back Time: Rosewood Essential Oil is a popular ingredient in anti-aging skin care formulations, known for promoting skin elasticity and smoothness.

DIRECTIONS AND USES

- Turn Spaces into Oases: Add 3-5 drops of Rosewood Essential Oil (Peru) to a diffuser filled with water for a calming atmosphere, with a soothing aroma that promotes relaxation.
- Signature Scents: Craft unique perfumes by blending Rosewood Essential Oil with other floral or woody scents. Use it at a concentration of 1-3% in perfume blends to impart a sophisticated aroma.
- A Rose Garden of Lotions & Creams: Harness the rejuvenating properties of Rosewood Essential Oil by incorporating it at a concentration of 0.5-1% in lotions and creams. This oil helps maintain skin health and vitality with every application. Perform a patch test to ensure skin compatibility.
- Natural Face Lift: Dilute Rosewood Essential Oil to a maximum of 1% in a carrier oil for facial applications. This gentle formula helps promote skin elasticity, smoothness, and a youthful appearance.
- Luxurious Lipsticks: Add Rosewood Essential Oil at approximately 0.1-0.5% of the total lipstick formulation to infuse a subtle, natural fragrance.
- Rosy Up Makeup: Elevate makeup routines by adding 1 drop of Rosewood Essential Oil per 5 grams (or about 0.2 ounces) of eyeshadow mixture, providing a delicate aromatic touch.
- Spa-Worthy Massage Blends: Blend Rosewood Essential Oil with a carrier oil at a concentration of 1-2% (1-2 drops per tablespoon of carrier oil) for a luxurious massage experience.

Size & Price: Contact Us