Fundamental Wolf Research — Community Rules

1. Research first

This is a respectful community for independent, evidence-led crypto research. Keep discussion constructive, relevant and open to challenge.

Disagree with ideas—not people.

2. No personal advice or trading signals

Do not give or request personalised investment advice, portfolio allocations, buy/sell instructions, entry or exit calls, leverage ideas or copy-trading signals.

Discussing projects, data, risks and theses is welcome. Every member remains responsible for their own decisions.

3. No shilling, promotion or solicitation

Do not:

- Promote a token, project, referral link, affiliate link, paid group, service or airdrop;
- Use direct messages to solicit members;
- Coordinate buying, selling or market activity;
- Post undisclosed paid, sponsored or affiliate material;
- Repeatedly post low-effort hype, price predictions or rumours.

If you hold an asset you are discussing, state that clearly where relevant.

4. Keep claims evidence-led

Present opinions as opinions. Link primary sources where possible, distinguish facts from claims, and do not present unverified information as certain.
Do not misrepresent research, selectively quote it, or imply that Fundamental Wolf Research has endorsed a project beyond what the published material actually says.

5. Be respectful

No harassment, discrimination, threats, intimidation, personal attacks, spam, deliberate disruption or abusive language.

Do not dox anyone or share another person's private information without their clear permission.

6. Security and scams

Never ask for or share seed phrases, private keys, passwords, recovery codes or sensitive account information.

Be cautious with links and direct messages. Fundamental Wolf Research will never ask members to send funds, connect a wallet or disclose credentials.

Report suspected scams or impersonation promptly.

7. Protect member material

Reports, spreadsheet access, screenshots, research notes and Discord content are for active members' personal use only.

Do not share, copy, resell, repost or distribute member material outside the community without written permission.

8. Access and cancellation

Community access is for active members only. When membership ends, access to member channels, reports and the research spreadsheet ends.

9. Moderation

We may remove content, issue warnings, mute, suspend or remove a member where these rules are breached or where needed to protect the community.

Serious or repeated breaches may result in immediate removal. This does not remove any statutory rights that cannot legally be excluded.

10. Questions or reports

For support, concerns or reporting a rule breach, contact:

support.fundamentalwolfresearch@gmail.com

11. Changes

These rules may be updated as the community develops. Material changes will be communicated to active members.