Special Events

☐ The Lake Pavilion Event | Thursday, August 1 | 5:30 - 7:30 pm

Relax by the water after a day of pre-conference events or travel at West Palm Beach's Lake Pavilion. Located at the end of the historic commercial corridor, Clematis Street, attendees will enjoy breathtaking views of the Intracoastal Waterway and network with conference-goers while enjoying light refreshments. Conveniently located to popular local restaurants, the Lake Pavilion is a great starting point for your evening in West Palm Beach. Attendees are also welcome to stroll down the Waterfront Promenade area and take in the music of Clematis by Night, an award-winning weekly concert series that happens every Thursday evening from 6-9 pm adjacent to the Lake Pavilion. Chill out South Florida style at this community event that has been attracting locals and visitors alike for nearly three decades.

Price $30.00

☐ Night at the Flagler | Friday, August 2 | 6:00 - 9:00 pm

Friday evening's event will immerse conference attendees in Palm Beach history and culture during a program and on-site reception at the Flagler Museum. When it was completed in 1902, the New York Herald proclaimed that Whitehall, Henry Flagler's Gilded Age estate in Palm Beach, was "more wonderful than any palace in Europe, grander and more magnificent than any other private dwelling in the world." During the last 122 years, Whitehall has been many things: a private home, a private club, a grand hotel - and for the last 65 years, a museum and National Historic Landmark. Stripped of nearly all its contents a hundred years ago, today Whitehall's appearance is nearly indistinguishable from when it was completed in 1902. The story of the restoration of Whitehall and the recovery of its contents over the last 25 years is one of incredibly good luck, two dozen capital projects, and a lot of very hard work by a team led by the Museum's Executive Director, John Blades. Hear directly from Mr. Blades about this work during his lecture titled "From an Abandoned Hotel to a Nationally Recognized Museum and National Historic Landmark."

Local and Regional Tours
☐ West Palm Beach Bus Tour   Wednesday, July 31   1:15 - 4:15 pm

West Palm Beach is a city that balances its tremendous growth with the charm of its historic structures, particularly the residential districts surrounding downtown. Come explore the diverse architectural offerings in districts that are both on the Local and National Register of Historic Places. See how buildings have been saved from demolition and adaptively reused as bed and breakfasts; or, how relocation has been used as an option. On this tour, you'll learn how West Palm Beach has successfully adopted lot coverage and floor area ratios into its zoning code to ensure quantitatively compatible infill construction. Additionally, we'll tour other areas of the City to give you a comprehensive overview of this booming coastal community that was recently dubbed "Wall Street South". Enjoy this bus tour while you take in the beautiful sites.

☐ Palm Beach's Resilient Parks | Sunday, August 4 | 8:30 - 11:30 am

Palm Beach is world-renowned for its outstanding architecture and landscapes, and like most coastal communities, has begun to grapple with how to address saving this heritage in light of the changing environmental conditions. This bus tour of Palm Beach plans to stop at three key parks in Palm Beach that each take unique approaches to resiliency. Bradley Park, the former site of E.R. Bradley's illegal gambling casino, underwent a restoration funded by the Preservation Foundation in 2017. Visitors can see a unique tidal garden that is designed to flood and recover, as well as a portion of the historic Lake Trail, and the tea house remnants from the Casino. Next, the tour will travel to Pan's Garden, also a project of the Foundation, established in 1994 and is the first all-native botanical garden in the State of Florida. We will discuss how native plants play a role in creating sustainable communities. The tour will culminate at Phipps Ocean Park, the Foundation's most ambitious project to date – a $30 million transformation of this ocean-front park. The park features the oldest schoolhouse in Southeast Florida, which will be relocated to address flooding, resiliency, and accessibility. The park will also feature an all-native-plant coastal conservancy, new educational facilities, and a nursery and propagation facility that will grow the plants needed to sustain the park long-term. Throughout the tour, the guides will also point out other unique structures, landscapes, and stories along the way.

Pre-Conference Workshops—Advanced Registration Required ■ NAPC Commission Short Course | Wednesday, July 31 | 1:00 - 5:00 pm An intensive training covering topics every volunteer commissioner and staff member need to know to be effective in their roles. The short course is great for seasoned professionals looking for a refresher as well as the brand new commission member. Price $30.00 ☐ Oral Histories Working Session | Thursday, August 1 | 9:00 - 10:30 am Oral histories can be a powerful tool in historic preservation especially in advancing more equitable identification, documentation, and treatment. More and more communities are adopting the approach, raising questions of cost, effectiveness, format, and customization. This roundtable invites a wide-ranging conversation on the topic with the hope of developing a position paper that might detail the findings of this working session and suggest next steps. We'll pose several questions to kick start the conversation, including what is the difference between an interview and an oral history, and then invite participants to bring their own experience, concerns, and questions to the table. Price $0.00 (advanced registration required) ☐ Historic Preservation Resilience Roundtable | Thursday, August 1 | 10:45 am - 12:15 pm Join colleagues from across the country for a facilitated dialogue on making historic places, districts, and communities more resilient in a changing climate. Share your challenges and solutions and come away with new ideas for your community. The National Alliance of Preservation Commissions will be partnering with the National Trust for Historic Preservation to lead this important discussion. Price $0.00 (advanced registration required) □ Design Review Roundtable: Infill Design | Thursday, August 1 | 1:15 - 2:30 pm Design review is one of the most powerful tools that communities have to protect historic resources. But regulating what owners can do with their properties is also one of the most difficult preservation challenges. Join us for a design review roundtable to hear how preservation commissions from around the country are regulating new construction within historic districts. Designing infill to be clearly identifiable as new construction while blending with the surrounding historic fabric is a tricky balance. This session will look at some of the different approaches commissions have taken in defining what is compatible and gather feedback through interactive presentation software.
