

Week 9 Journal Assignment

Purpose

The reading journal demonstrates that you read the week's course materials, thought critically about what you read and watched, and are able to apply the reading to the class.

This is also the opportunity to ask me any questions you may have while reading or sharing personal thoughts/reactions. I also look for direct quotes and passages to demonstrate you read.

Tasks

In your week 9 journal entry, respond to the following question:

1. Now that you have read chapter nine in your OER, please discuss and evaluate the potential benefits and harms of civil commitment, balancing the protection of individuals and society against the infringement of freedoms. Be specific and connect to the materials for the week.

Criteria for Success

Each journal entry is worth 10 points. Refer to the Journal Guidelines for more comprehensive directions and grading criteria.

Journal Rubric

Student _____ TOTAL: _____ / 10

Journals TOTAL _____ / 1015

___ Shows effort and depth pertaining to the prompt.

___ Shows connections made to class and/or reading.

___ If data or quotes are used, cite the source (even if it is Dr. Sanchez)

___ Personal reflection—shared personal thoughts and opinions