WRESTLER INFO:

RING NAME: KIDD DUDLEY.

Wrestling Style(s): Technical / Submission / Lucha Libre (40% - 50% - 10%)

Billed From: Dudley, England, United Kingdom.

Alignment: Face

Billed From: Dudley, England, United Kingdom.

Nickname: The Master of the Seven Deadly Submissions, The Work-Dragon, The Snapmare of Elm Close, Ring Daddy

Gimmick: When fans come to see Kidd Dudley compete, they have some...expectations. Firstly they know Kidd Dudley champions the attitude "break on one". No matter what, the hardline breaks the hold on rope breaks. Secondly, they expect to see him break down his opp. for a submission win, and thirdly Kidd brings a bottle of Pingo Dolce to the ring every match. If (IF) he gets a mid-match drink - there's an element of hulking up in the match.

Besides that in the ring, Kidd Dudley is a work-dragon, a term he coined himself to represent the fire that drives him to compete in the ring. As the legal guardian of his two young siblings, Kidd Dudley knows the difference between winning and losing affects what he brings back to them. Fans are well tuned in to the fact that is his reason he'll fight, push through pain in order to score that winner's purse, the higher bonuses. But fans also know he views himself as his biggest competition - and never wants his Mario Kart ghost to get ahead of him.

Kidd is quite open and approachable, often networking with other stars to learn the craft of wrestling, learn from them, or impart some wisdom himself. He grew up a geek, and became a strong geek to defend himself while growing up in the rougher area.

ENTRANCE:

THEME SONG: San Pedro by Sugoi

ENTRANCE DESCRIPTION: The lights in the arena turn to a white hue and flicker to the opening drums of the song. Kidd emerges from the curtain as three spotlights hit him, four white and two red. In hand is his Pingo Dolce juice which he throws up by the top, catching it on the same spot after two full rotations, then poses arm spread with his head knocked back.

Kidd Dudley high fives a couple fans on the corners of the ramp before showcasing his ability to accelerate quickly, flying down the ramp and slides into the middle of the ring. Kidd tucks and rolls onto his feet, hands off his drink to the ring side staff and then ascends the nearby turnbuckle. After nodding to the beat and checking out the crowd's signs, making a heart sign on his chest for all those who went all out on their signs, Kidd steps up onto the top rope for a flashy moonsault, spins on his right foot and poses once more arms spread and head back.

CHARACTER INFO:

BIOGRAPHY: Born to a Comic Book Artist (mother) and a Car Salesman (father), Kidd Dudley was the sole child in the family for a long time. He grew up in a low income home, as work would fluctuate for both parents and he learned quickly how valuable money is. He still was taught kind, core values and attributes his lack of jealousy to his upbringing. His mother and he created the name Kidd Dudley as a character she'd innocently insert into panels whenever she could, and the name is to honor his late mother.

Both parents were tragically involved in a car crash one night, where his mother and father were pronounced dead on the scene at the age of 20. By then he had two younger siblings who he would take under his wing as their legal guardian. Given their young age, Kidd Dudley was able to bring them with him to the states as his career took off, and forged a great little community who looked after his siblings while he would take big pay day appearances in Japan, Mexico and back in London.

He currently fights to provide them with a modest, comfortable living and to give them the opportunities he couldn't get.
