

Ponies Like Grapes(ben)

It was a cold night as the ponies that we know were asleep in their houses dreaming sweet dreams of presents galore. Twilight was sleeping soundly when a loud thump was heard throughout the house. Although the startling noise was frightening it only barely caused her to stir. A mysterious pair of blue eyes glanced both ways, cautiously. Then pinkie pie dressed all in red, covered in soot, quietly snuck out of the chimney. She looked both ways, once again checking to see if anypony was awoken by her crude entrance. She tippy-toed towards the decorative christmas tree, twinkling and shimmering beautifully, in the corner and placed three differently sized boxes underneath. Pinkie quietly snuck back to the chimney, stepped inside, and disappeared. Twilight was awoken by a loud giggle that faded away with an echo. She got out of bed and went to see what the strange commotion was. She looked carefully to find only one thing out of place, there were new presents under tree and a trail of grapes leading to the chimney. Frowning she moved closer to see what the presents held. To her surprise they had labels, she read the one nearest to her, 'To: Twilight Sparkle From: Pinkie Claus P.S Dont open this until christmas day'. Twilight decided to go back to bed inferencing that this was yet another Pinkie moment. When all of ponyville awoke they didnt find what they had expected. It wasnt the present from pinkie claus that surprised them. it was the absence of all their christmas items. Anything christmas related was gone cake, turkey, ornaments, trees, presents, and even all the cookies were gone. All the mane 6 were gathered in twilight's home all wondering the same thing. It was completely silent until Rainbow Dash shattered it "okay, we all know why we are here, somepony took all of our stuff!!". "w-w-who do you think would do something like?!" Fluttershy stuttered. "yeah i dont think anypony in ponyville would do something like that!" Applejack said.

On the other side of ponyville past the everfree forest a buzzing could be heard. Twas a group of changelings who had just stole presents that the ponies had been waiting for all night. Why would they still the presents you ask its simple boys and girls for you see changelings hate hearth warming why you ask well sit down and ill tell you it all started along time ago of fine it was last year the changelings and the ponies were spending hearth warming eve together but two ponies named diamond and silver made fun of them for how they looked so the changelings decided that they now hated that holiday and they would ruin it for all the ponies every year so that what they did next year now twilight and her friends found out about this and had a long talk with the changelings the changelings saw what they were doing was wrong and gave back the presents then all the ponies and changelings had a nice hearth warming eve together except for diamond and silver who were made into stew

the end

