

Spanreed for Prince Vamah's Spies

Spies, sign in below and pick a colour. Remember, black is the colour for the GM.

Lightsworn Panda - Lighteyed Soldier

Surgebound Rainspren - Darkeyed Guardsman

Gahaha! Luke! We're spies together!

Wyrn? Is this game like MR1?

You are in one of the Eliminator teams. You win together, but do not know the identities of other Prince's Spies.

Everyone is in an Eliminator team, right?

No no no, there are only a few Eliminator teams, of two people each.

Can I ask how many teams there are? Or is that off limits?

You certainly can.

How many Eliminator teams are there?

That is for me to know, and you to find out :).

So... Should I consider this my first game as an Eliminator? Yes?

Definitely.

AWWW YEAH!!!! LIGHTSWORN PANDA IS FINALLY EVIL!!!! YEAHHH!!!!!!

(Cough)

...Calm down? :P

You cannot understand the agony of being Good for 11 Games straight, Wyrn. You will never know the pain of looking at the GM's role PM, and you will never know the tears you will cry when you see it.

This is true, certainly.

Right, Wyrn what is the "anonymous spanreed message" ability we get? Do we get to send a mysterious PM to someone? Wyrn?

When an Eliminator dies, their Spanreed is given to a random player. They can then message each other through me anonymously. Your Spanreed is twinned with Surgebound's, which is why you have a Google doc :P.

Ah. Thanks, I understand now.

So, considering how each Eliminator Team can kill someone in a Combat, I'm guessing we have around 2-4 Eliminator teams.

Each Eliminator team selects a player each Cycle, and a random selected player dies in a Combat. The only time the number of kills is equal to the number of Eliminator teams is in a big Battle.

Ah, right.

One kill per team all the time would be terribly difficult to balance.

Yeah... Time to re-read the rules.

Second thing I do whenever a game starts :P.

So... How do we decide who is the "loyal" person who gets the Shardblade is?

It's given to a random player loyal to Dalinar. It is a confirmation of their innocence.

Hm... That means no Shardblades for me. :(

Afraid not.

How long do you expect this game to be, Wyrn? How many Cycles before you expect a victory?

It very much depends. It could be a rather large variety. Depends on whether you accidentally kill another Eliminator :P

Sorry, my wifi is lagging.

Perfectly fine.

I'm kinda scared about some of the possible Spy Teams. Willa and Gamma in one team is rather scary.

At least they wouldn't be trying to kill you?

Yeah.... Being the wildcard has its ups and downs. Sadly, our team lacks a good plotter or otherwise Gamma-type player. (Last time I tried a plot/plan, I won the Honorary Eliminator title. Something tells me any plan I come up with here will back-fire on me.)

Hey, no reason not to try, right?

Let's see... Our resources aren't that great (only a Guardsman and a Lighteyes), Rainspren is fairly new to Sanderson Elimination, (no offense, Luke) and my plans are as successful as the plot of Birdageddon or whatever that "cult classic" movie about terribly CGI-ed birds was called.

...Oh yeah, you know each other in real life, don't you? :P

Yup. Gives as an advantage in plotting.

I am highly amused by this.

How so?

Just that the two of you being in the same team was highly unlikely (1 in 380), and it's an amusing coincidence.

Heh. You actually calculated the chances... Wait. 19 x 20. Right.

Anyway, would it be alright if we plotted IRL?

Since you're both in here, I'm fine with that. I'd just request that you post anything you come up with on here, so that we have a record of it for posterity.

K. Although we probably won't actually do much IRL plotting. We kinda suck at that.

What's with the new Ookla revolution? Also, I'm not sure if this was an intentional change to 17th Shard, but my Chatbox is gone.

Doesn't seem to be there on my end either.

Right, time to decide who to kill.

Out of the players we have in the game, the most dangerous players are Meta, wilson, Renegade, Alvron and Kas. Normally, I'd suggest killing Meta, but since he always gets the short end of the stick, I'm going to kill wilson. She's too evil for my likings.

Any objections, Luke?

Ok I agree that we need to get rid of the powerful players first.

When I said post ideas, look, I didn't mean obvious statements.

Fine, kill who you want but I still want poet blood

I think someone else already wants that blood...

anyway lets get a plotting. what do we have use to exploit the other players. well we have one thing that we know that they don't, something very important

Which is... (C'mon Luke, stay online)

Because we know who some of the spies are.

Good job. Well played. I wonder.

We'll have to play the waiting game and hope for some developments.

We should probably prepare for the death of one of us. According to Wyrms, someone gets to get onto this Doc. Or something like that..

They don't get onto this doc. That would be way too strong.

the fact that we know even that we are spies is very useful.

Well, yeah. Now to work out who the other Spies are.

Well that could be either very easy or extremely hard also if when we die someone else gets this doc they'll know the roles of whoever we find out as the other spies and find ways to combat it.

Luke, you're thoroughly confusing me. So, Luke, remember not to be overly suspicious, do what you've done in the past games and you should be fine.

You choose the best times to AFK sorry i have to go soon, but ill try to be as inconspicuous as possible, ok.

Bye >:) (evil face)

New Cycle, Luke. There's a Battle coming up. I suggest that we don't Sabotage anyone. Why?

I want to fool the vanilla players into think there is one less Spy Team than there actually is. i can only hope the other Spy Teams aren't doing the same.

but the Gm was pretty clear of how many spy teams there were.

-oops never mind i read the new cycle and the others have no idea how many there are- could i possibly use my power to save a person from death, after making sure they were an innocent and then I will be seen as innocent and suspicion will be averted.

Hmm... That could work. We could set that up.

does the person you save and whether or not they are evil get mentioned in the write up

If someone is saved, then it is mentioned in the write-up, but their Role and alignment (as well as who saved them) is not shared.

WAIT WAIT. WHY ARE THERE 2 ANIMALS UP THERE

.maeby our spy activities being spied on.....Dun dun daaaa

Ok, so my laptop turns off now when I take it off the charger. I'm pretty sure the laptop's batteries are fried. I won't be able to post much in this doc for the next two days or so. Guess it's IRL plotting for us now.

Guess so...

Sad to say it's lonely in here now. If you want to pass any messages to the filthy son of a chull that stole Jain's Spanreed, either put them here or (preferably) PM them to me.

