Abstract

This week's seminar will be dedicated to open discussion. Come by and ask questions about academia, industry, PhD life, and the research environment in general. Discussions may include publishing strategies, job hunting and the tenure track, and the hot areas of systems research just beyond the horizon. Please come prepared with questions and/or answers.

About the Speaker

The session will be moderated by Prof. Vasia Kalavri from the Computer Science department at Boston University.