Ideas

-Venom (Injected or Eaten)

Description: A small item filled with amber liquid, it is oddly shaped, ovalular glass leading to a curved metal cap.(that, when touched at the sharp tip, disperses the liquid. (If injected))

(Consumption)

You hold the glass to your mouth, and unscrew the cover, gulping up the flowing liquid. It tastes bitter, and you can feel your muscles and organs slow down, leaving you in a dreary haze temporarily.

(Injection)

Tail

(No Tail)

A shock surges throughout your spine, leaving you numb. You turn around and see that your spine is extending, growing into a tail. Muscles begin to grow out on the appendage, wrapping itself around the bony protuberance. Layers of dark chitin and sensitive nerves begin to form around the muscles. At the end, a stinger forms, and the insides fill with venom, that has a faint aroma.
