

Thanks to the support of our PTA and RJ Julia Booksellers, Pre-K - 2nd grade students were able to learn some drawing and writing techniques from author Bob Shea on Friday, May 12th! He read from several of his books, including his newest, "Who Wet My Pants?" He shared his technique for drawings he starts with a jelly bean shape and demonstrated how to draw a lion, elephant, bear, and dinosaur all from that shape. It was wonderful for our students to hear about his writing and illustrating process. He also signed copies of his books for our students that had pre-ordered his books.

RJ Julia Booksellers was kind enough to leave extra signed copies of the books for anyone that did not have an opportunity to pre-order. If you would like one of these books, feel free to print and use this form. Just send it in with your child and we will make sure one of those signed books is sent home.

Be sure to check out This Week in Pictures for some pictures from the visit!
