

decollins1969

November 26, 2016 at 9:31 am

Justin, thanks for this. I don't know if you know this, but my first semester of grad school, I interviewed Alma Fox and a couple of other activists for a paper I wrote about urban renewal/removal (now we call gentrification, of course) in the Lower Hill in the 1950s and 1960s. It was for Glasco's first History of Black Pittsburgh course. My, how consistent the things the powers that are do in the name of progress, as progress for elite Whites nearly always means screw the rest of us.

Edit

Reply ↓

Justin

Post author

November 26, 2016 at 10:12 am

Thanks a lot, Donald, I didn't know this and, yes, "progress"....!