

Video2StickFigure Privacy Policy

Video2StickFigure (the App) collects coarse location of the users and usage data to aid in further development of the App, using Firebase Analytics. The collected data are not associated with the users and will remain anonymous.

The App also uses a third party ad platform, Google Mobile Ads, to serve the most relevant ads to the users. Should you opt into ad tracking, your data will be used to serve the most relevant ads.

The App further collects crash information to improve app quality in the future. That data is also not tied to users via any individually identifiable information.

This document is updated promptly as more features are added to the App which may require more information about users in future.