Lagos, Nigeria

Ola is a creative generalist passionate about solving problems, building collaborative relationships, and facilitating healthier digital spaces for the public good. He excels at bridging the human and technology interface and translating online insights into real-world impact.

Following a decade of multifaceted exploration and deep contemplation on what it means to live a good life, he discovered his ability to harness digital technologies for inner development, growth and cultural evolution, even when hindered by local infrastructure limitations.

Ola has worked hard over the last three years to improve his interpersonal skills, self-mastery, and leadership, laying the groundwork for wiser endeavours to come.
