PERSONAL

Personality:

- + polite, ambitious, observant
- = reserved, formal
- anxious, paranoid, distant

On first impression, Justina comes across as a well-mannered, put-together, and competent person. She puts a lot of effort into the things she does and won't stop until she reaches excellence. Her high standards won't let her. Fiercely independent she works best on her own and isn't one to rely on others much.

She treats people with the respect that she wants to be treated with and aims to be polite albeit very formal whenever she can. Rarely will she ever use profanity or insults.

And while she prides herself on all of these qualities in truth she isn't even half as confident as she presents herself.

Justina really is a person of many fears. Of the state of the world, of living up to her own expectations, of trusting others. She's always vigilant of any potential threats in her environment and more often than not gets paralyzed by the worries she's carrying.

But despite being constantly on edge none of it shows on her face. Most of the time.

Origin: Gate of Udethen

Inspiration: Film noir, Dishonored series, Oxenfree, 1984

Alternative Europe around 1940 ft. cosmic horror.

Throughout history, people have attempted to call forth beings from the otherworld to varying degrees of success. Sometimes it was because of the curiosity of man, sometimes it was the work of a group of fanatic worshippers.

There were many reasons for seeking the unknown. But maybe there are things people shouldn't try to understand.

The last known attempt was done in 1920 which ended in a catastrophe and plunged all of Europe into ruin.

In an attempt to exercise damage control most countries closed themselves off. The massive damages, as well as economic struggles during the time, gave rise to authoritarian leadership.

New technologies were developed and one man seemed to have figured out how to control the horrors from beyond.

Biography:

Justina grew up sheltered in a country dealing with the aftermath of the First World War and the threat of otherworldly creatures.

She is the last-born daughter of an influential family. Her mother was a politician while her father was a doctor. She has two older brothers, one who is known as the genius of the century (St██████) and the other as the disappointment of the family (██████ris).

To compensate for their second son's failing, Justina received private tutoring and piano lessons from a young age.

After dealing with a lot of insecurities in her teen years, she came to love music and made a name for herself as a pianist.

The world wasn't in a great state but she was fine with the way things were.

However, it all turned for the worse when St██████ rose to power.

The ever-kind and loving brother Justina adored all her life was gone. At first, she believed what he did was right in uniting and protecting the people, but when their own parents fell victim to his methods she realized that he was already crossing a line that shouldn't have been crossed.

The last thing she remembers was being on her way to meet with █████ris only to come face to face with one of the ghastly creatures from the otherworld.
