 	I started studying ikebana in Japan and studied with the second Ichiyo Headmaster (Akihiro Kasuya) before moving back to the US. I have been teaching the Ichiyo curriculum for over 15 years and ten of my students have graduated to become certified Ichiyo Instructors. I currently teach out of my studio in Ann Arbor MI. My classes are friendly and relaxed; each student sets their own pace through the curriculum, working alongside others or privately. I can provide floral materials which are augmented by my large garden. I recommend a Meet &amp; Greet to learn more about the Ichiyo School, its curriculum, and my teaching style before committing to lessons.

*Are you willing to set up a time for a prospective student to meet with you via phone, Facetime, Zoom.
