

Suggested agenda for first week meetings

Welcome and introductions

- Welcome
- Who are we in the group?
 - who are we as individuals in the digital age; the journey so far, expectations, hopes, concerns/fears
 - what might ONL mean for your development?

PBL group collaboration in the ONL course – what to do?

- For each topic: Scenario → inquiry/investigation → sharing → presentation
- FISH model
 - Guidelines (see PBL group folder)
 - Template (see PBL group folder)
- View course site Learning activities about PBL group work and FISH

How to work together? Planning!

- Guidelines (see PBL group folder)
- Roles: facilitator, co-facilitator, participants
- Combining synchronous and non-synchronous work
 - Google drive and G+ community
- Where and how do we communicate (asynchronous)
- Ground rules for group collaboration (see template in PBL group folder)
- Plan for PBL group meetings: (see meeting overview doc in PBL group folder)
 - When and how often do we have synchronous meetings?
 - Who'll lead the meetings?
 - Who'll take notes?

Contact details for group members

- Use the contact sheet (PBL group folder) or just use the individual profiles on the course site

Activities for week 2 - Connecting

Make a presentation of the group to be shared with the ONL191 community

- How do we want to present our group for the ONL191Community?
- How to do this? Which format and tool to use?
- Submit the link to your group work

Individual work

- Individual studies of topic resources
- Individual reflective blogposts based on topics, group activities and sources. More about bloggin