

Mr. Price's Expectations for his classroom:

Everyday Procedures

1. Enter class quietly
2. Sit in your assigned seat
3. Check the agenda to see what materials you will need that day
4. Gather what materials you will need
5. Write the bellringer and answer in your notebook
6. Listen to the directions for the rest of the activities for the day and follow them.

Band Items in Class

No Phones

No Food

No Problems

Phones will be confiscated by the teacher and will be returned to the student at the end of class or given to security at which time they can be picked up at the end of the day.

Food will be confiscated and thrown in the garbage on your first offense and every offense and every time thereafter.

From the time you enter class, problems you may have had in other parts of your day are left at the door and you will not bring those issues into class. If there is a problem that you need to talk to me about in private I am always willing to listen and help in anyway I can.

Do's

Do leave headphones or earbuds in your pocket or backpack

Do stay in seat until the bell rings.

Do take responsibility for getting missing work from the blog if you are absent.

Do check the blog EVERYDAY even if you're absent so you can do your work at home

Do treat others as you would want to be treated.

Do bring your own materials to class everyday.

Do clean up after yourself.

All missing work is due by the end of the six weeks it was assigned.

I have read and understand the expectation for Mr. Price's Class.
