Click the tinyurl link below and when the page loads, click on the small, green words “magnet link”. Ignore the “Download Now” button; it’s just an ad. Also ignore the glitch that says my computer’s not on because I leave it on 24/7.

Step by Step Directions for Integrating these (or any) Subs with this (or any) show or movie:

1. Download the subs.
2. Highlight the subs files > right-click > “Copy”
3. Go into the File Folder containing the episodes of the show (or movie) you want to twin with the subs > right-click > “Paste”

How to Play Them:

4a. Using VLC: play an episode, then right click on screen > “Subtitles > “Open File” or “Add Subtitles File,” depending on your VLC version > choose that episode’s subs file from the list that comes up. That’s it, you’re done. It automatically coordinates the timing. Easier than you thought, right?

4b. Using Other Devices: Rename each subs file to exactly match the file name of its episode except end the subs file with: “.srt”. To rename, just highlight the subs file, right-click and choose “Rename.” Then play an episode, access the “Subtitles” menu and follow the on-screen directions.

4b-1. Renaming Example: If the episode’s name was: Bron.Broen.S2.E1.avi
Then you’d change the subs file for that episode to: Bron.Broen.S2.E1.srt
