🎮 Echo.X Moderator Rules & Guidelines

Welcome to the Echo.X Moderator Team! As a mod, you're the heartbeat of our community—keeping things fair, fun, and safe for everyone. Here's your official guide to what's expected:

🛡️ 1. Be Fair, Be Firm, Be Friendly

- Treat all players equally—no favoritism.
- Enforce rules consistently, without bias.
- Stay calm and respectful, even when others aren't.

🚫 2. Zero Tolerance for Abuse

- No harassment, hate speech, or discrimination—ever.
- Take immediate action on threats, doxxing, or targeted bullying.
- Escalate serious issues to senior staff or devs.

📣 3. Communication is Key

- Use clear, polite language when issuing warnings or bans.
- Avoid public shaming—handle sensitive issues privately when possible.
- Keep logs of major actions (bans, mutes, etc.) for accountability.

🕵️ 4. Stay Invisible When Needed

- Don't interfere with gameplay unless necessary.
- Use mod powers discreetly—players should feel safe, not watched.
- Avoid engaging in drama or arguments.

⚖️ 5. Know the Game, Know the Rules

- Stay up-to-date on game mechanics, updates, and community policies.
- If you're unsure about a situation, ask before acting.
- Follow the same rules you enforce—lead by example.

🧠 6. Use Good Judgment

- Context matters—don't be a robot with the rules.
- Consider intent, history, and impact before taking action.
- When in doubt, consult with fellow mods or admins.

🧰 7. Tools & Powers

- Use mod tools responsibly—no experimenting or showing off.
- Never share internal tools, commands, or access with players.
- Report bugs or exploits through official channels.

🧭 8. Represent Echo.X

- You're an ambassador of the game—keep it classy.
- Avoid toxic behavior, even off-platform.
- Help foster a welcoming, inclusive vibe.

✅ Final Note

Moderation isn't about control—it's about care. You're here to protect the experience, not dominate it. If you ever feel overwhelmed, burned out, or unsure, reach out. We've got your back.

Any questions please feel free to comment on my youtube please include that you are a modorator.