What I did:

- Make a smaller version of the panel

What I learned:

I learned how to make the inkscape file saved as a pdf, so I could print it. I also made different things in fusion for fun. I made a really creepy looking head using different tools. I made just holes for eyes because I did not have enough time to build the inset parts.

What I did:

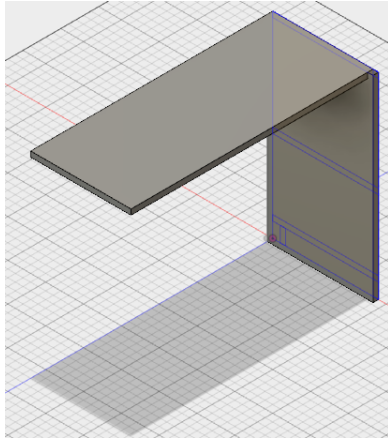

- Work in fusion

What I learned:

I learned how to make parameters by watching a video. I used this to start building a bookshelf I could cut on the CNC Router. I didn't finish it, but there is a lot more than what appears since I turned off sketches.
