

Write :

- 1 DIC email
- 1 PAS email
- 1 HSO email

DIC (Disrupt, Intrigue, Call to action)

Subject line: Volkswagen Car is designed to thrill.

It has the greatest engine performance of any Volkswagen vehicle ever created and

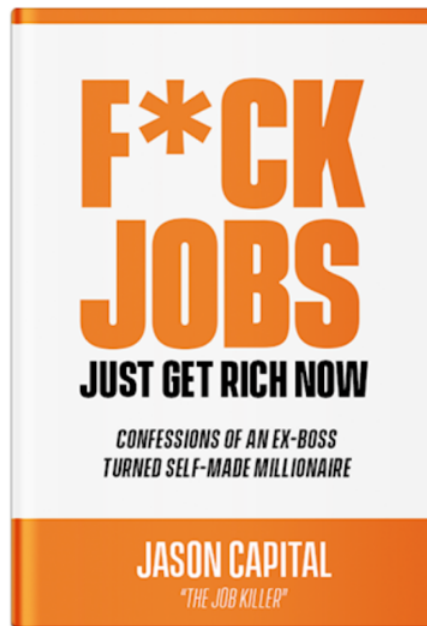

Not because of different materials, not because of different techniques, Not because of the help of Aliens.

But because We were the only ones to fix the Crucial flaw competitors made

So if you want to feel the thrill

Click here before it ends

HSO (Hook, Story, Offer)

Subject line (hook): A moment of desperation and then...

They let me and my company die, but I raised to the occasion and made it.

I failed the last chance I had, and there was no money to pay my employers.

I was a boss at a small office job company that was going bankrupt, and the workers started getting pissed because they weren't getting paid.

Thankfully, I received one last chance.

A very big company offered to work with us and was willing to pay us enough money to prevent us from going bankrupt.

With that cash, I could totally keep all my employees on board and rescue my sinking company.

So I immediately assigned work to my crew, and they all hustled and worked like crazy.

The job we got from the company was due at the end of the week.

Days were passing, and time was running out.

On the last day, we were ready to send the work, but then I received an email.

I was paralyzed after reading the email from the company that hired us. It said the project was canceled due to budget cuts.

Desperation overtook me. My first action was to punch the computer, hit the wall, and throw things.

It is too late for me to earn the money to pay my employees and save my company.

But as I stared at the wall of my office for 10 minutes, I had one last ray of hope.

An ad on my computer caught my attention as I calmed down.

It was an advertisement. Immediately after picking up the screen, I began reading.

I was intrigued by the ad's strange title. I think it was called "Fuck Jobs," but I'm not sure.

Having nothing to lose, I clicked it and...

One year later, my struggling small company transformed into a globally recognized multi-millionaire business.

Now that I have achieved financial security, I have retired and left behind any worries about money.

Discover the exact idea that saved both my struggling company and myself from decline here.

