The purpose of this activity is to consider how your identity impacts your research. Write your research aims related to mixture modeling. Fill in each rectangle with a broad aspect of your social identity (e.g. gender, profession, level of education etc.) that relate to your specific research aims. Reflect on the different ways these indicators influence your research aims and also consider other indicators not considered.

Research aims: