

Good governance = సుపరిపాలన; Digital governance = అంకపరిపాలన

E-governance = ఎలక్ట్రానిక్ పరిపాలన; m-governance = మొబైల్ పరిపాలన

The GG institution of GoAP before the bifurcation of AP state and the GG institution of the Telangan State in the aftermath of the bifurcation of AP state.

Center for good governance = సుపరిపాలనా కేంద్రం;

CGG is now under GoT, as far I know. So, CGG is the GG institution of GoT. If I am right, CGG was given over to GoT after TS was formed in 2014. CGG is located in Gachibowli, Hyderabad.

The Centre for Good Governance (CGG) was established in October, 2001 by the then Government of Andhra Pradesh (GoAP) in collaboration with the Department for International Development (DFID) and the World Bank to help it achieve the State's goal of Transforming Governance.

CGG undertakes action research, provides professional advice, and conducts change management programmes for government departments and agencies to enable successful implementation of their reform agenda. CGG works closely with policy-makers like Ministers, senior officials, management experts, institutions and other stakeholders, especially citizens towards building people centric governance practice.

The GG institution of GoAP after the bifurcation of AP state

After Telangana state formation, CGG came to be under the purview of Telangana State. So, a similar organization was formed as RTGS by the GoAP. Both CGG and RTGS are e-governance institutions of the 2 state govts, now.

After the bifurcation of the AP state, Real Time Governance Society (RTGS) is an Indian e-governance initiative of chief minister N. Chandrababu Naidu from Andhra Pradesh, India. It was formed on 6 September 2017. The department reports to the chief minister.

The idea is to use electronic communication and technology to deploy e-governance in Andhra Pradesh. It has 13 district centers and 1 state center for reporting.[3] Data from Andhra Pradesh Weather Forecasting and Early Warning Research Center, drones, machine learning systems, biometric systems and other surveillance systems are collated and reported through the RTGS system in real-time. A call center addresses internal grievances. <https://www.rtgs.ap.gov.in/>

The Smart Governance institution of GoI

CGG is for GoT. RTGS is for GoAP. The 2 GG institutions are for the 2 Telugu states. The similar institution at the central govt. level is National Institution for Smart Governance(NISG) (<https://www.nisg.org/>).

National Institute for Smart Government (NISG) (<https://www.nisg.org/about-nisg>) is a not-for-profit company set up in 2002 by the Government of India (GoI) on the Public-Private-Partnership (PPP) model with Secretary, Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY) as its Chairman. NISG is shaped as an institution of excellence in e-governance to assist governments for ushering in smart governance, process reforms and digitalization. NISG has been at the forefront of e-governance initiatives in India and contributed towards improvement in government processes and establishment of service delivery systems resulting in faster and simpler service delivery to end-users including citizens and businesses.

An NGO for GG: FGG

Forum for Good Governance is an NGO like PGF. Its office is in Kukutpally.

<https://www.facebook.com/fggindia.org> . <https://ffggovernance.blogspot.com/> is a blog of the NGO, Forum for Good Governance(FGG).

FGG is more active than PGF because FGG has filed petitions in High Court and got orders of the court for governmental action. Some of the FGG members seem to be Judges and rtd. IAS Officers.

Mr.Padmanabha Reddy is a key person in FGG, an NGO. Thus, as compared to PGF, the functioning of the FGG has had definite telling effects on the GoT.

Thus, I have presented 3 e-governance institutions, CGG, RTGS and NISG of GoT, GoAP and GoI respectively. I have presented also about an NGO, FGG(Forum for GG)@Kukutpally.
