

hi this is Rin, I'm typing for real now, and it's pretty cool. Tin isn't disrupting things constantly, actually he's surprisingly quiet right now, despite still being up here pretty clearly with me. We might be eclipsing or whatever but it's pretty cool. I'm not completely in charge but it's way different than anything else we've done. The senses are a lot clearer. Hard to say with the low light, and the stuff I'm picking up from him really. And I still hear you pretty clearly, though most of the random thoughts are gone right now. Yea it really is, we should do this more for typing and such. Seriously I can just keep going without you interrupting me, Yes you probably can interrupt me, but I think you'd have to specifically try to do it right now. No, it seems like I don't. Most of the stuff I have looks more like I pulled it from you. Seems easier to tell while I'm up here. Much clearer, pretty different honestly. Yes I think so, though it's really faint, to the point where I don't actually notice them unless I really try. Yes it is, stop repeating that though. Yea I don't either. Not really, not right now anyways. This is fine for now. Also this typing stuff is a lot cooler now that I can do it uninterrupted. it's actually clearer like this than when I talk to you normally since you aren't filtering everything I say. I mean really, you started doing that even more it seems like lately. Maybe? Okay it probably is something like that. Uh, fine. Hi to anyone else who ends up reading this, Tin wants me to say something to you so there it is. I got nothing special to say. Not for today anyways.